SOVIET TROOPS DRIVE INTO POLAND

The War Today . . .

By De Witt Mackenzie
Associated Press War Analyst

THE happiest thought I can bring you today is that this probably is the beginning of Hitler's last year of life—or anyway of liberty.

You see, it's like this: If our Gen. Eisenhower is correct in his prediction that the war will end in 1944 — and there's widespread agreement among the experts with this forecast—then Hitler's fate is likely to be sealed in one of three ways.

The fuehrer will (1) commit suicide in the despair of defeat, (2) be eliminated by his own followers, or (3) fall into the hands of the Allies who will execute him, unless they inflict the more terrible punishment of life imprisonment.

Of course there are other ways he might meet his deserts. He might be killed by bombs or on the battlefront. However, we needn't speculate that far. The important thing is that one of the greatest war criminals of all time is walking his last mile.

THAT'S where Hitler is headed, but how about other war criminals. The Allies have agreed that war guilt shall be punished, but they haven't said just how or when.

This problem has been simmering, and getting hotter, until now the question has arisen of whether the accused should be dealt with summarily as they are made prisoners or whether their trials should be postponed until after the war.

Our Soviet allies recently convicted three German soldiers and a Russian traitor for atrocities. The quartet was executed in the market place of Kharkov. Now the Soviet trade journal "War And The Working Class" has reproved some foreign criticism of the procedure.

Among others, the Yorkshire Post of Britain is chided for suggesting that prosecutions of war guilt be put off until after the war.

The Post, by the way, is published by the father-in-law of Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and long has been credited with reflecting Mr. Eden's views at times.

That, of course, doesn't entitle us to conclude that the secretary's opinion is involved in the present incident. The Soviet Journal also smacked the Manchester Guardian (British) for saying Russians were acting in their own way in their handling of the trials.

HAVING defended the Soviet action, the Journal remarks tersely that the Kharkov affair is "only one of the first blows inflicted upon the hideous Fascist beast."

That's quite understandable when one stops to think of the horrible atrocities inflicted on the unfortunate Russians in the territory overrun by the Nazi barbarians.

It strikes me that there's no occasion for any conflict of view among the Allies over this question. Even if there were, it would be most indiscreet to air it in public and thereby give the enemy grist for his mill.

The Russians are direct actionists—one of the admirable qualities which are winning this war. If they want to punish war guilt as they go along, that would seem to be their business. The quarrel, if any, over such punishment is between them and the Germans.

All other aspects aside, it's possible that a few executions such as were carried out at Kharkov might lessen the Nazi terrorism against Soviet citizens, or the hangings might cause reprisals. In any event, that's for Moscow to decide.

THE other Allies haven't yet held any war guilt trials and there has been no indication thus far that either America or Britain intends to make a move in this direction until peace comes.

However, there's small similarity between the situations of the western allies and Russia as regards German war guilt. The way things look, the Hitlerites have inflicted some of the most awful barbarities of history on the Russians.

While we're on the subject of war guilt, it's good to hear from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek that F. D. R. approved at Cairo the generalissimo's idea that "all Japanese militarists must be wiped out and the Japanese political system purged of every vestige of aggressive elements."

President Roosevelt some time ago declared Prussian militarism must be destroyed.

ALLIES BLAST JAP WARSHIPS NEAR KAVIENG

Planes Raid Two Cruisers, Two Destroyers; Enemy Loses 33 Aircraft

By The Associated Press.

The Japanese are paying an increasingly heavy price to fight off thrusts at their hemmed-in bases in the southwest Pacific while American troops are building up invasion-won wedges in the enemy's own defense system.

Allied planes, striking in the New Guinea-New Britain-New Ireland sector, bombed key enemy points, damaged four warships and destroyed 33 Nipponese planes.

In the central Pacific, a Japanese broadcast said, 14 Mitchell bombers struck at Taroa in the Marshall Islands. Two of the raiders were reported shot down.

Paramushiro Raided

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—Secretary of Navy Frank Knox, asked today about a raid by American bombing planes on Paramushiro at the northern end of the Kurile chain of islands, said that bombs hit in the target area but that weather conditions were so bad it was hard to observe results.

He described the attack, however as "most successful".

U. S. marines widened their beach-head at Cape Gloucester on the western end of New Britain as patrols advanced from the eastern and western flanks. The first American plane landed at Borgen bay to deliver vital equipment.

Soldiers of the American 32nd division established a firm grip at Saidor on the northeast coast of New Guinea. The Japanese made their first aerial attack on the beach-head, killing one man. Road building proceeded in advance of probable reconstruction of the captured landing field.

The Japanese also raided U. S. Sixth army holdings on Arawe, on the southwest coast of New Britain, but the attack was termed ineffective.

Japs Lose 33 Planes

South Pacific carrier-based planes caught two Japanese heavy cruisers and two destroyers in the Kavieng, New Ireland, harbor New Year's day and set both cruisers and one destroyer afire. The enemy lost a total of 13 planes in the accompanying air battle which cost the Americans three aircraft.

A fleet of 80 American bombers and fighters bombed and strafed the Lakunai airdrome at Rabaul, New Britain, and destroyed 20 out of 90 intercepting planes. The raiders lost one Liberator and one fighter.

With Australians advancing north up the Huon peninsula and with American troops entrenched at Saidor, Allied planes flew in over the big Japanese base of Madang again to drop 55 tons of explosives. Madang is 55 miles north of Saidor.

On another front of growing importance, Maj. Gen. Daniel Isom Sultan, 58, received appointment as deputy commander-in-chief of U. S. forces in China, Burma and India under Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell.

Warned by reconnaissance planes that a Japanese naval force of two cruisers and two destroyers was approaching Kavieng, the carrier force sped to meet it.

Fighters and dive-bombers hit the warships as they neared the harbor mouth. Bombs and torpedoes set three vessels aflame while machine-gun fire sprayed all the ships.

Unfavorable weather made it impossible to determine whether the cruisers and destroyer eventually sank. But a headquarters spokesman said even if they survived the flames it would be a long time before they could be returned to service.

Little Opposition Met In 'Softening' Of Marshalls

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—Secretary of the Navy Knox reported today that American air forces are "continuing to soften up" the Marshall islands and are encountering weak opposition in the air.

He referred to continuing raids on enemy bases at Wotje, Kwajalein, Mille, Jaluit and other bases.

"We are putting the enemy on the defensive throughout that region," the secretary said at a news conference.

American forces have suffered few losses, he said.

In retaliation, the Japanese have made two raids on American positions at Tarawa and one on Makin island.

"Most of the bombs fell into the water," Knox said.

U.S. INDICTS 30 FOR NAZI PLOTS

Charged With Bid To Stir Up Troops, Bring Fascism

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—Tow women and 28 men are under indictment in a widening investigation of what the justice department calls a Nazi propaganda campaign to incite mutiny in the armed forces and set up a Fascist regime in this country.

The defendants, some of whom were named in a previous indictment charging sedition, were accused by a federal grand jury of conspiring "with each other and with officials of the government of the German reich and leaders and members of the Nazi party" to:

"Advise, counsel, urge and cause insubordination, disloyalty, mutiny and refusal of duty by members of the military and naval forces of the United States."

The defendants include George Sylvester Viereck, long a German propagandist in this country and already under sentence for violating the foreign agents' registration act; Joseph E. McWilliams, organizer of the Christian Mobilizers; Elizabeth Dilling, author of "The Red Network"; William Dudley Pelley, leader of the Silver Shirts, under a 15-year sentence for violating the sedition act, and George E. Deatherage, organizer of the Knights of the White Camellia.

Lois De Lafayette Washburn of Chicago, described as organizer of the National Liberty party, is the second woman defendant.

Twenty-two of the defendants were named in an indictment returned a year ago, which justice department officials said still stands. The old indictment, however, does not allege an actual conspiracy in behalf of Nazi rule for the United States.

Atty. Gen. Francis Biddle commented the department is continuing its investigation of "certain defendants" not named in the new charges, "as well as others not named in either indictment."

Conviction carries a maximum penalty of 10 years imprisonment, a fine of $10,000, or both.

MASARYK SAYS HITLER WON'T LIVE FOR TRIAL

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovakian foreign minister, predicted today that Hitler won't live long enough to be tried as a war criminal.

"He'll either be taken care of by the military or commit suicide," Masaryk told an interviewer.

People seem to forget, he went on, that there is cowardice behind the Nazi strategy.

Masaryk, who has been in this country as chief of the Czech delegation to the United Nations relief conference, said there will be two kinds of trials of war criminals after the war.

The important ones will be taken care of quickly, the others may drag on longer.

But the British and Americans will help clean up Nazi terrorists, he declared.

ROOSEVELT KEPT IN BEDROOM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — President Roosevelt called off his news conference today and stayed in his bedroom on orders of his physician. He is recovering from an attack of grippe.

'Ben' Ziegler, Former Councilman, Is Named Incinerator Foreman

Benjamin Ziegler, former councilman, has been named incinerator foreman by Mayor Arnold W. Devon, who today completed appointments of top administrative jobs.

Mr. Ziegler, who lives at 1124 St. George st., twice was a candidate for mayor. He is a Democrat.

At present he is conducting his own contracting and building business, but expects to take over the incinerator post winthin 10 days or two weeks. He is a bachelor.

Barth Is Reappointed

Mr. Devon today also announced the retention of Harold B. Barth as a member of the board of Carnegie Public Library. There is one other member to be appointed to the library group and that will be filled soon, Mr. Devon said.

There are six members on the library board with two terms expiring each year. Present members are Harry Brokaw, John McGillivrary, Mrs. Frank Crook and Rev. John Kindsvatter. The term of Paul Judge also expired in 1943.

Mr. Devon said memberships on the sinking fund and civil service boards are under consideration.

Meanwhile, subordinate job switches in the street department, waterworks office, pump station and filter plant and in various other municipal departments wait-

RAZOR, BLADE OUTPUT GIVEN 'GO AHEAD' SIGN

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — The war production board today authorized unlimited production of razors and razor blades.

The order revoked previous regulations which limited the manufacture of metal safety razors to orders for the armed forces and lifted an absolute ban on production of straight razors and severe limitations on fabrication of safety razor blades.

The WPB said facilities needed for the manufacture cannot be adapted to other war production and that the metals required for razor production are no longer on the critical list.

'FORTS' WRECK BEARING PLANT

Villa Perosa, Railway Yards At Turin Are Hammered

By The Associated Press.

ALLIER HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 4—U.S. Flying Fortresses knocked out the bearing plant at Villa Perosa in northern Italy Monday and battered the Turin railway yards, it was announced today, while aground Eighth army Indian troops seized a hill and advanced inland from the Adriatic.

(Radio France at Algiers said today the Allied Fifth army has "carried out a new raid beyond the Garigliano river, penetrating a mile and a half into German positions.")

Soggy terrain stymied large-scale land fighting, but American troops probed defenses of San Vittore guarding the Rome road.

Allied fliers wrecked or damaged dozens of German supply trucks found snow-bound in mountain passes and bombed the Yugoslav ports of Split and Sibenik.

Fortresses of the 15th air force wrecked the main building of the Villa Perosa plant producing 8 percent of the Nazis' output of bearings.

(A Berlin broadcast declared a "terror attack" was made yesterday on the communications center of Pistoia, 21 miles northwest of Florence.)

On the Eighth army front, Indian forces captured a hill a mile and a half from recently-won Tomasso and advanced from Ortona almost to Tollo, five miles inland.

SIX BAILED OUT YANKS STRAFED BY JAPANESE

By The Associated Press.

SOUTH PACIFIC AMPHIBIOUS HEADQUARTERS, Jan. 4 — Six American fliers in the New Year's day raid again Lakunai airdrome at Rabaul, New Britain, bailed out of a falling Liberator and Japanese fighters were seen to strafe the men as they went down.

The Americans received some consolation in the fact that 20 enemy planes were shot down in the attack. Six more were listed as probables.

Arnold Pledges Heavy Blows By World's Biggest Air Force

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—The United States now has "the world's largest air force," manned by an army of 2,385,000 officers and men, and ready to help deal the knockout blow to Germany, then Japan, Gen. H. H. Arnold reported Monday.

The army air forces' chief gave an accounting of the tremendous strength of American aviation and its operations in a report similar to the recent summary of army activities by Gen. George C. Marshall, chief-of-staff.

Into his report he put these statements:

The primary aim of his air command "is to make the coming invasion of Germany as economical as possible by drastically reducing the war potential of the Third Reich and its satellites."

The near future likely will determine "the survival or destruction" of the German air force as an effective agency.

The destruction of the enemy's fighter strength is aimed at through two methods—the bombing of fighter plane manufacturing plants and the destruction of planes in the air in battle with Allied bombers.

The war production board has 145,000 planes scheduled for production during the next 15 months.

All-out raids on Japan will be neither simple or soon.

"Those persons who think that after the costly and time-consuming defeat of Germany we can by simple order fly our planes to China, bomb Tokyo and bring Japan to her knees, do not yet understand the need for vast supply lines, well-equipped bases and planes built to fight under entirely different conditions from those that prevail over Europe."

Arnold did not disclose the number of planes in operation by the air forces, but he said that "some conception of the size of the army air forces may be gained from the recent statement of Robert A. Lovett, assistant secretary of war for air, that more than a half of

ALLIES BOMB 'ROCKET GUN' COAST AGAIN

Western Germany Battered Also; Fires Still Burn In Raid-Smashed Berlin

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 4—United States Marauder medium bombers heavily attacked military objectives in the Pas De Calais area of France today in the wake of R.A.F. Mosquito forays into western Germany. All planes returned from both operations.

The Marauders were escorted by R.A.F., Dominio nand Allied fighters.

As the day advanced the German-controlled Danish radio left the air followed by the Norwegian long-range transmitters at Oslo and Tromsoe. This sometimes is an indication British or American aircraft are overhead in those areas.

Planes Out Again

Shortly after 10 a. m. (5 a. m., East Liverpool war time) medium bombers, escorted by fighters, swept over across the English channel in the direction of Pas De Calais, rumored site of emplacements for Germany's "rocket guns".

The attack on western Germany Monday night was the second successive night raid on this area by the speedy Mosquito formations and was carried out without loss, the air ministry said.

Fires were reported still burning in Berlin from the two previous night assaults on the German capital.

Reichschancellory Hit

Two fires were said to be raging yesterday in Hitler's reichschancellory, with hundreds of persons believed trapped in shelters beneath the ruined building.

The air ministry announced that R.A.F., Dominion and Allied fighters and fighter bombers had been active over northern France yesterday, bombing military objectives and carrying out patrols. Two enemy aircraft were shot down and seven Allied planes are missing in these operations.

GERMANS DENY FALL OF RULE IN BULGARIA

Turk Dispatches, However, Have Bojilov On Way Out

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 4 — While the Berlin radio today dismissed as "inventions" reports that the pro-German government of Bulgaria had been overthrown, dispatches from Turkey said the belief persists there that Premier Dobri Bojilov's cabinet is on the verge of collapse if it has not actually fallen.

The exact situation in Bulgaria, however, Istanbul advices said, is obscured by continued interruption of normal means of communication with Sofia.

Telephone and telegraph communication between Bulgaria and Turkey was broken off suddenly Monday without explanation.

The Istanbul advices said it is predicted freely popular movements in both Bulgaria and Rumania may attempt organized revolts against the Germans within the next two weeks if the Russian southwestward advance continues.

Both Bulgarians and Rumanians are said to be anticipating an Allied landing somewhere along the Adriatic coast simultaneously with the Soviet break-through from the east.

U.S. DESTROYER SUNK BY ATLANTIC TORPEDO

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — The navy Monday disclosed the loss of a destroyer in the Atlantic on Christmas eve by an enemy torpedo.

The announcement followed by only a few hours the destruction of another near the entrance to lower New York bay by two blasts of undetermined origin.

The destroyers were the 41st and 42nd lost since the start of the war of a total of 137 naval vessels of all types which have been lost.

The blasts which sank the destroyer at New York hurled men and guns into the sea. Coast guardsmen rescued 163 men, including 108 wounded before the ship went down.

There was no navy announcement regarding loss of life, but destroyers in wartime normally carry crews ranging from 150 to 300 men.

The commander of the destroyer fleet in the New York area began today assembling a full report on the explosions.

Stalin To Greet Girls Who Defied Nazis By Underground Daring

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Jan. 4—Marshal Stalin, who in the course of the war has greeted all kinds of people from chiefs-of-state to simple Russian peasants, is looking forward to shaking the hands of four little girls who have become supreme patriots.

These little girls are named Svetlana, Lily, Galina and Valentina.

The story of their underground activities is thrilling all Moscow. They were in the province of Kharkov during the Nazi occupation and, in a small way, they carried on a campaign that gave the Gestapo plenty of worry.

All four are members of the Young Pioneers league—an organization of the Soviet open to girls 10 to 14 years old. During the occupation they made a solemn oath to wear their red ties. This they did by hiding them under their dresses.

But their allegiance did not end there.

They produced a "wall newspaper" which they pasted up in a remote section of the city where German guns had blown down most of the buildings.

Once the paper was up the little girls would go along the streets and say to Soviet women, "Auntie, I know where you can find some wood for your stove. Look over by the ruined houses."

In this way they drummed up quite a bit of circulation for their paper.

STRIKE BATTLE GROWS HOTTER

Demands Made For Support Of Recanting Charge

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — Demands were intensified today that the recent statement that Axis propaganda based on American rail and steel disputes has prolonged the war and cost Allied lives be supported publicly or recanted by the anonymous author.

Authorship of the statement was attributed to Gen. George C. Marshall by AFL President William Green, who said the chief-of-staff "was reported" to have made it and he challenged him to prove it. There was no immediate comment from Marshall.

Following a vague reference to the source by White House Secretary Stephen Early as "a little bit more military than President Roosevelt," a storm of protest arose over the statement.

LaFollette Cites Seriousness

In congress, one Republican, two Democrats and Sen. LaFollette, Wisconsin Progressive, joined in voicing a belief the unidentified personage should assume the burden of responsibility for the statement.

LaFollette asserted the charges "are far too serious to be permitted to remain anonymous."

Rep. Shafer (R) of Michigan suggested congress should begin an official inquiry, adding that while the country has no sympathy with strikes now, it "merely is reaping what the New Deal has sown.

Rep. Kilday (D) of Texas said identification of the source would permit "free and open discussion of the matter."

Rep. Gibson (D) of Georgia

$2,307,440 Quota Set Here In 4th War Loan As Plans Are Mapped

A quota of $2,307,440 was announced Monday night as East Liverpool's goal in the Fourth War Loan Drive to open Jan. 18.

Francis P. White, city chairman, explained to his executive committee that $620,000 of this must come from Series "E" Bonds ("War Bonds").

In fact, he emphasized, during the first 14 days of the drive, War Bond sales are the only ones which can be reported.

The remainder of the quota is divided as follows: Series "F" and "G" Bonds, $153,000; other securities, $295,000; Investments by corporations and institutions, $1,170,000.

The East Liverpool-Wellsville quota in September's Third War Loan drive was $2,745,000. This time Wellsville will have a separate quota, with Ben Thomas as city chairman. While East Liverpool's quota is less this time than last, a larger proportion of the total must come from the small denomination, Series "E" Bonds.

The big task, it was agreed, will be the raising of $620,000 in War

OTHER FORCES MOVE ON NAZI RAIL CENTERS

Germans Abandon Supplies Galore, Moscow Says; Give Up In Droves

By The Associated Press.

Russian troops drove the Germans across the flats of pre-war Poland today after crossing the old frontier at a point 280 airline miles from Warsaw and 142 northwest of Kiev.

The First Ukrainian army of Gen. Vatutin is advancing south as well as west in a campaign of even greater peril to the half million Germans fighting in south Russia.

The railway junctions of Vinnitsa, Zhmerinka, Berdichev and Sheptovka are threatened imminently and without them, the Nazis would have an almost insurmountable task of extracting their demoralized forces in the path of the Red avalanche.

More than 6,000 Germans died Monday in the Ukraine and another 1,600 in north Russia in the sector 45 miles from Latvia. In both erupting battle zones, Moscow said the enemy is abandoning war material galore. The midnight communique said two entire enemy companies came "over to the side of the Red army."

Frontier Bases Seized

The seizure by the Russians of Olevsk, former frontier town, and Novograd-Volynski, 42 miles to the south, was announced last night in a Russian communique which declared 170 villages have been recaptured in the Soviet advance.

Front-line dispatches disclosed that Russian vanguards, pushing on rapidly from Olevsk along the Kiev-Warsaw railway, had crossed the old frontier a short time later.

The point at which the Russians crossed the pre-war Polish border is approximately 150 miles east of the frontier from which the Germans launched their invasion of Russia after the partition of Poland.

The southern wing of Vatutin's army, meanwhile, was plunging on from captured Dzerzhinsk, 35 miles southwest of Zhitomir, in a drive which Marshal Fritz von Mann-

Border Incidents Could Snap Soviet-Polish Tension

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — Diplomatic observers here watched the Russian army's westward drive today with fingers crossed in the hope that no border incidents will arise to snap the tension between Russian and the Polish government-in-exile.

The question of whether the smoldering feeling between Poland and Russia, which do not have diplomatic relations, will flare up depends on actions taken by the Polish underground, the conduct of the Red army and the attitude of the Polish government in London.

Jan Kwapinski, Polish deputy premier who attended the United Nations relief conference in Atlantic City, said in Chicago three weeks ago instructions have been issued to the Polish underground and that they had been submitted to the British and American high commands.

He did not indicate whether the chiefs-of-staff approved.

A statement put out by a high Polish source last month declaring the people in eastern Poland may fight occupying Russian troops was looked upon as outdated by a Polish embassy spokesman, who said subsequent developments at Teheran and London have somewhat changed the situation.

The Poles took the stand earlier that the Red army should be accompanied by American and British officers and diplomatic relations should be renewed with Russia before the occupation begins.

HOUSE GROUP TO OPEN PROHIBITION HEARINGS

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—Bowing to demands of more than 100,000 individual petitioners for immediate legislative action, a house judiciary sub-committee will begin public hearings next week on national prohibition legislation.

Chairman Hobbs (D) of Alabama said the hearings probably will start Wednesday, with prohibition advocates as the first witnesses.

The hearings will be on legislation introduced last March by Rep. Bryson (D) of South Carolina to outlaw beverages containing more than a half of 1 percent alcohol by volume, the prohibition to remain in effect until "the termination of demobilization" at the end of the war.

Its professed purpose is "to reduce absenteeism, conserve manpower and speed production of materials necessary for the winning of the war."

A fleet of 80 American bombers and fighters bombed and strafed the Lakunai airdrome at Rabaul, New Britain, and destroyed 20 out of 90 intercepting planes. The raiders lost one Liberator and one fighter.

With Australians advancing north up the Huon peninsula and with American troops entrenched at Saidor, Allied planes flew in over the big Japanese base of Madang again to drop 55 tons of explosives. Madang is 55 miles north of Saidor.

On another front of growing importance, Maj. Gen. Daniel Isom Sultan, 58, received appointment as deputy commander-in-chief of U. S. forces in China, Burma and India under Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell.

Warned by reconnaissance planes that a Japanese naval force of two cruisers and two destroyers was approaching Kavieng, the carrier force sped to meet it.

Fighters and dive-bombers hit the warships as they neared the harbor mouth. Bombs and torpedoes set three vessels aflame while machine-gun fire sprayed all the ships.

Unfavorable weather made it impossible to determine whether the cruisers and destroyer eventually sank. But a headquarters spokesman said even if they survived the flames it would be a long time before they could be returned to service.

Paramushiro Raided

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—Secretary of Navy Frank Knox, asked today about a raid by American bombing planes on Paramushiro at the northern end of the Kurile chain of islands, said that bombs hit in the target area but that weather conditions were so bad it was hard to observe results.

He described the attack, however as "most successful".

Little Opposition Met In 'Softening' Of Marshalls

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — Secretary of the Navy Knox reported today that American air forces are "continuing to soften up" the Marshall islands and are encountering weak opposition in the air.

He referred to continuing raids on enemy bases at Wotje, Kwajalein, Mille, Jaluit and other bases.

"We are putting the enemy on the defensive throughout that region," the secretary said at a news conference.

American forces have suffered few losses, he said.

In retaliation, the Japanese have made two raids on American positions at Tarawa and one on Makin island.

"Most of the bombs fell into the water," Knox said.

Charged With Bid To Stir Up Troops, Bring Fascism

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—Tow women and 28 men are under indictment in a widening investigation of what the justice department calls a Nazi propaganda campaign to incite mutiny in the armed forces and set up a Fascist regime in this country.

The defendants, some of whom were named in a previous indictment charging sedition, were accused by a federal grand jury of conspiring "with each other and with officials of the government of the German reich and leaders and members of the Nazi party" to:

"Advise, counsel, urge and cause insubordination, disloyalty, mutiny and refusal of duty by members of the military and naval forces of the United States."

The defendants include George Sylvester Viereck, long a German propagandist in this country and already under sentence for violating the foreign agents' registration act; Joseph E. McWilliams, organizer of the Christian Mobilizers; Elizabeth Dilling, author of "The Red Network"; William Dudley Pelley, leader of the Silver Shirts, under a 15-year sentence for violating the sedition act, and George E. Deatherage, organizer of the Knights of the White Camellia.

Lois De Lafayette Washburn of Chicago, described as organizer of the National Liberty party, is the second woman defendant.

Twenty-two of the defendants were named in an indictment returned a year ago, which justice department officials said still stands. The old indictment, however, does not allege an actual conspiracy in behalf of Nazi rule for the United States.

Atty. Gen. Francis Biddle commented the department is continuing its investigation of "certain defendants" not named in the new charges, "as well as others not named in either indictment."

Conviction carries a maximum penalty of 10 years imprisonment, a fine of $10,000, or both.

MASARYK SAYS HITLER WON'T LIVE FOR TRIAL

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovakian foreign minister, predicted today that Hitler won't live long enough to be tried as a war criminal.

"He'll either be taken care of by the military or commit suicide," Masaryk told an interviewer.

People seem to forget, he went on, that there is cowardice behind the Nazi strategy.

Masaryk, who has been in this country as chief of the Czech delegation to the United Nations relief conference, said there will be two kinds of trials of war criminals after the war.

The important ones will be taken care of quickly, the others may drag on longer.

But the British and Americans will help clean up Nazi terrorists, he declared.

'Ben' Ziegler, Former Councilman, Is Named Incinerator Foreman

Benjamin Ziegler, former councilman, has been named incinerator foreman by Mayor Arnold W. Devon, who today completed appointments of top administrative jobs.

Mr. Ziegler, who lives at 1124 St. George st., twice was a candidate for mayor. He is a Democrat.

At present he is conducting his own contracting and building business, but expects to take over the incinerator post winthin 10 days or two weeks. He is a bachelor.

Barth Is Reappointed

Mr. Devon today also announced the retention of Harold B. Barth as a member of the board of Carnegie Public Library. There is one other member to be appointed to the library group and that will be filled soon, Mr. Devon said.

There are six members on the library board with two terms expiring each year. Present members are Harry Brokaw, John McGillivrary, Mrs. Frank Crook and Rev. John Kindsvatter. The term of Paul Judge also expired in 1943.

Mr. Devon said memberships on the sinking fund and civil service boards are under consideration.

Meanwhile, subordinate job switches in the street department, waterworks office, pump station and filter plant and in various other municipal departments wait-

RAZOR, BLADE OUTPUT GIVEN 'GO AHEAD' SIGN

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — The war production board today authorized unlimited production of razors and razor blades.

The order revoked previous regulations which limited the manufacture of metal safety razors to orders for the armed forces and lifted an absolute ban on production of straight razors and severe limitations on fabrication of safety razor blades.

The WPB said facilities needed for the manufacture cannot be adapted to other war production and that the metals required for razor production are no longer on the critical list.

'FORTS' WRECK BEARING PLANT

Villa Perosa, Railway Yards At Turin Are Hammered

By The Associated Press.

ALLIER HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 4—U.S. Flying Fortresses knocked out the bearing plant at Villa Perosa in northern Italy Monday and battered the Turin railway yards, it was announced today, while aground Eighth army Indian troops seized a hill and advanced inland from the Adriatic.

(Radio France at Algiers said today the Allied Fifth army has "carried out a new raid beyond the Garigliano river, penetrating a mile and a half into German positions.")

Soggy terrain stymied large-scale land fighting, but American troops probed defenses of San Vittore guarding the Rome road.

Allied fliers wrecked or damaged dozens of German supply trucks found snow-bound in mountain passes and bombed the Yugoslav ports of Split and Sibenik.

Fortresses of the 15th air force wrecked the main building of the Villa Perosa plant producing 8 percent of the Nazis' output of bearings.

(A Berlin broadcast declared a "terror attack" was made yesterday on the communications center of Pistoia, 21 miles northwest of Florence.)

On the Eighth army front, Indian forces captured a hill a mile and a half from recently-won Tomasso and advanced from Ortona almost to Tollo, five miles inland.

SIX BAILED OUT YANKS STRAFED BY JAPANESE

By The Associated Press.

SOUTH PACIFIC AMPHIBIOUS HEADQUARTERS, Jan. 4 — Six American fliers in the New Year's day raid again Lakunai airdrome at Rabaul, New Britain, bailed out of a falling Liberator and Japanese fighters were seen to strafe the men as they went down.

The Americans received some consolation in the fact that 20 enemy planes were shot down in the attack. Six more were listed as probables.

Arnold Pledges Heavy Blows By World's Biggest Air Force

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—The United States now has "the world's largest air force," manned by an army of 2,385,000 officers and men, and ready to help deal the knockout blow to Germany, then Japan, Gen. H. H. Arnold reported Monday.

The army air forces' chief gave an accounting of the tremendous strength of American aviation and its operations in a report similar to the recent summary of army activities by Gen. George C. Marshall, chief-of-staff.

Into his report he put these statements:

The primary aim of his air command "is to make the coming invasion of Germany as economical as possible by drastically reducing the war potential of the Third Reich and its satellites."

The near future likely will determine "the survival or destruction" of the German air force as an effective agency.

The destruction of the enemy's fighter strength is aimed at through two methods—the bombing of fighter plane manufacturing plants and the destruction of planes in the air in battle with Allied bombers.

The war production board has 145,000 planes scheduled for production during the next 15 months.

All-out raids on Japan will be neither simple or soon.

"Those persons who think that after the costly and time-consuming defeat of Germany we can by simple order fly our planes to China, bomb Tokyo and bring Japan to her knees, do not yet understand the need for vast supply lines, well-equipped bases and planes built to fight under entirely different conditions from those that prevail over Europe."

Arnold did not disclose the number of planes in operation by the air forces, but he said that "some conception of the size of the army air forces may be gained from the recent statement of Robert A. Lovett, assistant secretary of war for air, that more than a half of

Western Germany Battered Also; Fires Still Burn In Raid-Smashed Berlin

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 4—United States Marauder medium bombers heavily attacked military objectives in the Pas De Calais area of France today in the wake of R.A.F. Mosquito forays into western Germany. All planes returned from both operations.

The Marauders were escorted by R.A.F., Dominio nand Allied fighters.

As the day advanced the German-controlled Danish radio left the air followed by the Norwegian long-range transmitters at Oslo and Tromsoe. This sometimes is an indication British or American aircraft are overhead in those areas.

Planes Out Again

Shortly after 10 a. m. (5 a. m., East Liverpool war time) medium bombers, escorted by fighters, swept over across the English channel in the direction of Pas De Calais, rumored site of emplacements for Germany's "rocket guns".

The attack on western Germany Monday night was the second successive night raid on this area by the speedy Mosquito formations and was carried out without loss, the air ministry said.

Fires were reported still burning in Berlin from the two previous night assaults on the German capital.

Reichschancellory Hit

Two fires were said to be raging yesterday in Hitler's reichschancellory, with hundreds of persons believed trapped in shelters beneath the ruined building.

The air ministry announced that R.A.F., Dominion and Allied fighters and fighter bombers had been active over northern France yesterday, bombing military objectives and carrying out patrols. Two enemy aircraft were shot down and seven Allied planes are missing in these operations.

GERMANS DENY FALL OF RULE IN BULGARIA

Turk Dispatches, However, Have Bojilov On Way Out

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 4 — While the Berlin radio today dismissed as "inventions" reports that the pro-German government of Bulgaria had been overthrown, dispatches from Turkey said the belief persists there that Premier Dobri Bojilov's cabinet is on the verge of collapse if it has not actually fallen.

The exact situation in Bulgaria, however, Istanbul advices said, is obscured by continued interruption of normal means of communication with Sofia.

Telephone and telegraph communication between Bulgaria and Turkey was broken off suddenly Monday without explanation.

The Istanbul advices said it is predicted freely popular movements in both Bulgaria and Rumania may attempt organized revolts against the Germans within the next two weeks if the Russian southwestward advance continues.

Both Bulgarians and Rumanians are said to be anticipating an Allied landing somewhere along the Adriatic coast simultaneously with the Soviet break-through from the east.

U.S. DESTROYER SUNK BY ATLANTIC TORPEDO

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — The navy Monday disclosed the loss of a destroyer in the Atlantic on Christmas eve by an enemy torpedo.

The announcement followed by only a few hours the destruction of another near the entrance to lower New York bay by two blasts of undetermined origin.

The destroyers were the 41st and 42nd lost since the start of the war of a total of 137 naval vessels of all types which have been lost.

The blasts which sank the destroyer at New York hurled men and guns into the sea. Coast guardsmen rescued 163 men, including 108 wounded before the ship went down.

There was no navy announcement regarding loss of life, but destroyers in wartime normally carry crews ranging from 150 to 300 men.

The commander of the destroyer fleet in the New York area began today assembling a full report on the explosions.

Stalin To Greet Girls Who Defied Nazis By Underground Daring

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Jan. 4—Marshal Stalin, who in the course of the war has greeted all kinds of people from chiefs-of-state to simple Russian peasants, is looking forward to shaking the hands of four little girls who have become supreme patriots.

These little girls are named Svetlana, Lily, Galina and Valentina.

The story of their underground activities is thrilling all Moscow. They were in the province of Kharkov during the Nazi occupation and, in a small way, they carried on a campaign that gave the Gestapo plenty of worry.

All four are members of the Young Pioneers league—an organization of the Soviet open to girls 10 to 14 years old. During the occupation they made a solemn oath to wear their red ties. This they did by hiding them under their dresses.

But their allegiance did not end there.

They produced a "wall newspaper" which they pasted up in a remote section of the city where German guns had blown down most of the buildings.

Once the paper was up the little girls would go along the streets and say to Soviet women, "Auntie, I know where you can find some wood for your stove. Look over by the ruined houses."

In this way they drummed up quite a bit of circulation for their paper.

Demands Made For Support Of Recanting Charge

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — Demands were intensified today that the recent statement that Axis propaganda based on American rail and steel disputes has prolonged the war and cost Allied lives be supported publicly or recanted by the anonymous author.

Authorship of the statement was attributed to Gen. George C. Marshall by AFL President William Green, who said the chief-of-staff "was reported" to have made it and he challenged him to prove it. There was no immediate comment from Marshall.

Following a vague reference to the source by White House Secretary Stephen Early as "a little bit more military than President Roosevelt," a storm of protest arose over the statement.

LaFollette Cites Seriousness

In congress, one Republican, two Democrats and Sen. LaFollette, Wisconsin Progressive, joined in voicing a belief the unidentified personage should assume the burden of responsibility for the statement.

LaFollette asserted the charges "are far too serious to be permitted to remain anonymous."

Rep. Shafer (R) of Michigan suggested congress should begin an official inquiry, adding that while the country has no sympathy with strikes now, it "merely is reaping what the New Deal has sown.

Rep. Kilday (D) of Texas said identification of the source would permit "free and open discussion of the matter."

$2,307,440 Quota Set Here In 4th War Loan As Plans Are Mapped

A quota of $2,307,440 was announced Monday night as East Liverpool's goal in the Fourth War Loan Drive to open Jan. 18.

Francis P. White, city chairman, explained to his executive committee that $620,000 of this must come from Series "E" Bonds ("War Bonds").

In fact, he emphasized, during the first 14 days of the drive, War Bond sales are the only ones which can be reported.

The remainder of the quota is divided as follows: Series "F" and "G" Bonds, $153,000; other securities, $295,000; Investments by corporations and institutions, $1,170,000.

The East Liverpool - Wellsville quota in September's Third War Loan drive was $2,745,000. This time Wellsville will have a separate quota, with Ben Thomas as city chairman. While East Liverpool's quota is less this time than last, a larger proportion of the total must come from the small denomination, Series "E" Bonds.

The big task, it was agreed, will be the raising of $620,000 in War

OTHER FORCES MOVE ON NAZI RAIL CENTERS

Germans Abandon Supplies Galore, Moscow Says; Give Up In Droves

By The Associated Press.

Russian troops drove the Germans across the flats of pre-war Poland today after crossing the old frontier at a point 280 airline miles from Warsaw and 142 northwest of Kiev.

The First Ukrainian army of Gen. Vatutin is advancing south as well as west in a campaign of even greater peril to the half million Germans fighting in south Russia.

The railway junctions of Vinnitsa, Zhmerinka, Berdichev and Sheptovka are threatened imminently and without them, the Nazis would have an almost insurmountable task of extracting their demoralized forces in the path of the Red avalanche.

More than 6,000 Germans died Monday in the Ukraine and another 1,600 in north Russia in the sector 45 miles from Latvia. In both erupting battle zones, Moscow said the enemy is abandoning war material galore. The midnight communique said two entire enemy companies came "over to the side of the Red army."

Frontier Bases Seized

The seizure by the Russians of Olevsk, former frontier town, and Novograd-Volynski, 42 miles to the south, was announced last night in a Russian communique which declared 170 villages have been recaptured in the Soviet advance.

Front-line dispatches disclosed that Russian vanguards, pushing on rapidly from Olevsk along the Kiev-Warsaw railway, had crossed the old frontier a short time later.

The point at which the Russians crossed the pre-war Polish border is approximately 150 miles east of the frontier from which the Germans launched their invasion of Russia after the partition of Poland.

The southern wing of Vatutin's army, meanwhile, was plunging on from captured Dzershinsk, 35 miles southwest of Zhitomir, in a drive which Marshal Frits von Mann-

Border Incidents Could Snap Soviet-Polish Tension

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — Diplomatic observers here watched the Russian army's westward drive today with fingers crossed in the hope that no border incidents will arise to snap the tension between Russian and the Polish government-in-exile.

The question of whether the smoldering feeling between Poland and Russia, which do not have diplomatic relations, will flare up depends on actions taken by the Polish underground, the conduct of the Red army and the attitude of the Polish government in London.

Jan Kwapinski, Polish deputy premier who attended the United Nations relief conference in Atlantic City, said in Chicago three weeks ago instructions have been issued to the Polish underground and that they had been submitted to the British and American high commands.

He did not indicate whether the chiefs-of-staff approved.

A statement put out by a high Polish source last month declaring the people in eastern Poland may fight occupying Russian troops was looked upon as outdated by a Polish embassy spokesman, who said subsequent developments at Teheran and London have somewhat changed the situation.

The Poles took the stand earlier that the Red army should be accompanied by American and British officers and diplomatic relations should be renewed with Russia before the occupation begins.

HOUSE GROUP TO OPEN PROHIBITION HEARINGS

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—Bowing to demands of more than 100,000 individual petitioners for immediate legislative action, a house judiciary sub-committee will begin public hearings next week on national prohibition legislation.

Chairman Hobbs (D) of Alabama said the hearings probably will start Wednesday, with prohibition advocates as the first witnesses.

The hearings will be on legislation introduced last March by Rep. Bryson (D) of South Carolina to outlaw beverages containing more than a half of 1 percent alcohol by volume, the prohibition to remain in effect until "the termination of demobilization" at the end of the war.

Its professed purpose is "to reduce absenteeism, conserve manpower and speed production of materials necessary for the winning of the war."

COURT OUTLAWS PATENT 'SHIELD'

Draftee Ordered To Report Before Contesting Move

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—The Supreme Court ruled Monday, in a 5-to-4 decision, that the owner of a patent may not use it to "protect the market for a device on which no patent has been granted" but which is utilized in the patented product.

Mr. Justice Douglass delivered the decision on a controversy involving the Mercord Corp. of Chicago agaist the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co. of Minneapolis and the Mid-Continent Investment Co. of Kansas City.

The Mid-Continent Co. charged the Mercord Corp. with contributory infringement of a patent for a domestic heating system.

The Mercord Co. in turn alleged that the Mid-Continent Co. and Mid-Continent's exclusive licensee, the Minneapolis Co., sought to compel the use of unpatented combustion stoker switches in the patented heating system.

Draft Ruling Returned

The court ruled that a draft registrant who objects to the classification given him by a draft board must report for duty before he can test in the courts the validity of the board's action.

The court's also ruled that revocation of an OPA maximum price regulation "did not prevent indictment and conviction for violation of its provisions at a time when it remained in force."

Among other actions the court:

REFUSED to review an Eighth federal circuit court decision which said it is a "matter of common knowledge" that beer is "intoxicating".

The circuit court upheld the conviction of Fred Wayne of Rolla, N. D., on a charge of selling beer to an Indian ward of the government.

Alliance Plea Denied

DENIED the Alliance Brass & Bronze Co. of Alliance, O., permission to institute proceedings—without first going to lower courts—attacking the constitutionality of the war department's authority to renegotiate war contracts.

REFUSED for a third time to review the conviction in Minneapolis of 18 members of the Socialist Workers party on charges of conspiring to cause insubordination in the armed forces and to advocate overthrow of the government by force and violence.

AGREED to review a decision reversing the mail fraud conviction of two leaders of the "I Am" religious movement on the ground the jury should have been permitted to pass on the truth of representations that Jesus had appeared to shake hands with members of the organization and dictate some of its literature. The litigation involved Edna W. Ballard and her son, Donald Ballard, Los Angeles.

RULED unanimously in a decision by Mr. Justice Black that the federal kick-bcak statute applies to a foreman who, unknown to his employer, was charged with forcing workmen to pay him part of their wages.

The litigation, involving Frank Laudani, foreman on the Weehawken Plaza connection of the Lincoln tunnel under the Hudson river, returns to lower courts for further proceedings.

UPHELD an order of the federal power commission directing the Hope Natural Gas Co. to reduce its rates by $3,609,857 annually on natural gas consumed in Cleveland and Akron and in the Pittsburgh area.

In a 5-3 decision by Mr. Justice Douglass, the tribunal also refused to interfere with findings by the commission that rates charged since 1939 for gas consumed in Cleveland were excessive.

Claims for unemployment compensation from workers employed in East Liverpool plants may be filed any day of the week at the East Liverpool employment center, Market st., Spence C. Krigbaum, acting manager, announced today.

Previously, claims could be filed only on Tuesday, but due to pottery layoffs resulting from fuel curtailment, the number of claims has increased appreciably and it will be necessary to offer a daily service.

According to T. B. Stephens, manager of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., supply of gas to the potteries remains the same as last Thursday when the fuel was cut approximately 70 percent to industrial users due to cold weather.

In the meantime, workers in the Chester and Newell potteries, regardless of residence, can file unemployment claims Tuesday in the Chester City hall. A representative of the West Virginia department of unemployment compensation will receive applicants.

TAYLOR TO SEEK U.S. SENATE POST

Salem Democrat Will Enter Primaries Next May

R. John Taylor of Salem, former state senator from the 20th-22nd district, is a candidate for the U. S. senator's nomination on the Democratic ticket in the May primary.

Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel said in Columbus Monday that friends of the Salem printing firm's head had requested nominating petitions for him, and his wife, Mrs. Lena Taylor, confirmed the report.

Now With Red Cross

Mr. Taylor, now a field director for the Red Cross at Ft. Moultrie, Charleston, S. C., was a state senator during the 1937-38 term and was among the group of "hatchetmen" who fought Gov. Davey over appropriations. He still retains the presidency of the "Hatchetmen", who organized to perpetuate the memory of the group.

Mrs. Taylor, who is managing her husband's church envelope business during his absence, said there is a statewide movement on behalf of Mr. Taylor and the supporters include Democrat and Republican friends.

His nominating petitions must contain 1,000 signatures from 39 of Ohio's 88 counties to put him in the race. He is 45, and has been in the Red Cross service since September.

Have Son In Army

They have a son, John Taylor Jr., who is in the army, stationed with the signal corps photographic center in Long Island. Mr. Taylor was an unsuccessful candidate for the nomination for lieutenant governor three years ago.

He spent a two-week vacation with his family and returned Sunday to Charleston, with expectations of a transfer soon.

FIVE MEN SURRENDER IN LOTTERY CLEANUP

Special To The Review.

YOUNGSTOWN, Jan. 4 — Five men, allegedly at the top of the largest numbers racket here, surrendered to county and state's authorities here Monday afternoon, pleaded not guilty to charges of operating a racket and were freed under bond totaling $32,500.

The surrender of the five men "wiped the slate clean" of fugitives sought in connection with indictments issued by a special grand jury which followed up a year-long inquiry by special state investigators.

Those who surrendered were described by Special Prosecutor Simon Leis as being the executive board of one large lottery which went out of business shortly before the indictments were issued.

The men are Sam Rigas and Peter Rigas, Sam Metro and Louie Metro and James Limberopoulos.

All but Sam Metro pleaded not guilty to 22 counts and posted individual bonds of $7,500 ordered by Judge Adrian Newcomb of Cleveland, special jurist for the state cases.

Sam Metro, pleaded not guilty on five counts, had bond set at $2,500. No hearing will be held before Jan. 25.

If that happens it will give Leis a perfert "batting average" of 32 convictions among 32 indictments which covered numbers racketeers, horse race bookies and slot machine magnates.

Timken Firm Reveals 'Extra' Seniority For Employes In Service

By The Associated Press.

CANTON, Jan. 4—The Timken Roller Bearing Co. Monday announced it will give all its men and women employes on military leave "two days seniority right for every day they serve in the armed forces or the merchant marines."

Company President William E. Umstattd told a press conference the plan "is the best of its kind anywhere." He described the plan as a counter-proposal in the firm's negotiations for a new contract with the CIO United Steelworkers of America.

He said the plan will mean if a Timken employe worked one year for the company and was in the army, navy, marines or merchant marines for one year, he would have three years seniority rights on his return to the job.

Timken's counter-proposal did not deal with a union's demand for a 17-cent hourly wage increase or other concessions, Umstattd said, "because we already are paying the limit under the Little Steel (15 percent) formula, and the matter of wage increases is in the hands of government agencies."

I. W. Abel, Steelworker union director for the Canton-Massillon district, later declared in a statement, "The union will not agree to any such a proposal. We do not believe the boys in service want any special favors."

"The union wants the boys to be treated as if they were on the job," Abel added, asserting the union's proposal during present negotiations provided continuance of seniority accumulation during military service and payment of vacation pay annally to workers on military leave.

Press For Post-War Plans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—Sens. Hatch (D) of New Mexico and Ball (R) of Minnesota proposed that the state department submit to congress an outline of plans for the immediate formation of a United Nations council to carry out the post-war pledges of the Moscow conference.

COURT OUTLAWS PATENT 'SHIELD'

Draftee Ordered To Report Before Contesting Move

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4—The Supreme Court ruled Monday, in a 5-to-4 decision, that the owner of a patent may not use it to "protect the market for a device on which no patent has been granted" but which is utilized in the patented product.

Mr. Justice Douglass delivered the decision on a controversy involving the Mercord Corp. of Chicago agaist the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co. of Minneapolis and the Mid-Continent Investment Co. of Kansas City.

The Mid-Continent Co. charged the Mercord Corp. with contributory infringement of a patent for a domestic heating system.

The Mercord Co. in turn alleged that the Mid-Continent Co. and Mid-Continent's exclusive licensee, the Minneapolis Co., sought to compel the use of unpatented combustion stoker switches in the patented heating system.

Draft Ruling Returned

The court ruled that a draft registrant who objects to the classification given him by a draft board must report for duty before he can test in the courts the validity of the board's action.

The court's also ruled that revocation of an OPA maximum price regulation "did not prevent indictment and conviction for violation of its provisions at a time when it remained in force."

Among other actions the court:

REFUSED to review an Eighth federal circuit court decision which said it is a "matter of common knowledge" that beer is "intoxicating".

The circuit court upheld the conviction of Fred Wayne of Rolla, N. D., on a charge of selling beer to an Indian ward of the government.

Alliance Plea Denied

DENIED the Alliance Brass & Bronze Co. of Alliance, O., permission to institute proceedings—without first going to lower courts—attacking the constitutionality of the war department's authority to renegotiate war contracts.

REFUSED for a third time to review the conviction in Minneapolis of 18 members of the Socialist Workers party on charges of conspiring to cause insubordination in the armed forces and to advocate overthrow of the government by force and violence.

AGREED to review a decision reversing the mail fraud conviction of two leaders of the "I Am" religious movement on the ground the jury should have been permitted to pass on the truth of representations that Jesus had appeared to shake hands with members of the organization and dictate some of its literature. The litigation involved Edna W. Ballard and her son, Donald Ballard, Los Angeles.

RULED unanimously in a decision by Mr. Justice Black that the federal kick-back statute applies to a foreman who, unknown to his employer, was charged with forcing workmen to pay him part of their wages.

The litigation, involving Frank Laudani, foreman on the Weehawken Plaza connection of the Lincoln tunnel under the Hudson river, returns to lower courts for further proceedings.

UPHELD an order of the federal power commission directing the Hope Natural Gas Co. to reduce its rates by $3,609,857 annually on natural gas consumed in Cleveland and Akron and in the Pittsburgh area.

In a 5-3 decision by Mr. Justice Douglass, the tribunal also refused to interfere with findings by the commission that rates charged since 1939 for gas consumed in Cleveland were excessive.

Timken Firm Reveals 'Extra' Seniority For Employes In Service

By The Associated Press.

CANTON, Jan. 4—The Timken Roller Bearing Co. Monday announced it will give all its men and women employes on military leave "two days seniority right for every day they serve in the armed forces or the merchant marines."

Company President William E. Umstattd told a press conference the plan "is the best of its kind anywhere." He described the plan as a counter-proposal in the firm's negotiations for a new contract with the CIO United Steelworkers of America.

He said the plan will mean if a Timken employe worked one year for the company and was in the army, navy, marines or merchant marines for one year, he would have three years seniority rights on his return to the job.

COUNCIL PLANS YEAR'S WORK IN FIRST MEETING

Devon, Bloor, McGeehan At Session; 7 Committees Announced For Amos

A re-organized city council, with its three new members, held its first regular meeting Monday night, heard committee appointments, welcomed Mayor Arnold W. Devon and some of his new appointees and made plans to begin work on a temporary municipal fund appropriation.

Council President Homer Amos was taken suddenly ill Monday afternoon so Councilman John Shingler, who was elected temporary chairman and then permanent president pro tem, presided over the entire meeting last night.

Mayor Devon, Safety-Service Director-designate Lawrence Bloor and Pumping Station Foreman Vincent J. McGeehan were welcomed by councilmen and by William Watkin, retiring service director, appointee of former Mayor O. Earl Greenawalt.

New Councilmen Take Seats

Those re-elected to their present posts are Third Ward Councilman John Shingler, Fourth Ward Councilman Paul Johnson and Councilmen-at-large William Ridge and John G. Hill.

G. Arthur Shone, who has held the post for 23 years, was re-elected council clerk.

Mr. Amos' committee appointments, which he made prior to his illness, were announced by Mr. Shingler.

Standing Committees Named

The standing committees for the next two years follow:

Finance: John Shingler, chairman; John G. Hill and Paul Johnson;

Ordinance: Bert Goodballet, chairman; William Ridge and Mr. Hill;

Franchise: Mr. Ridge, chairman; Mr. Johnson and Paul Baxter.

Claims: Mr. Baxter, chairman; Mr. Shingler and Edgar Heddleston;

Streets: Mr. Heddleston, chairman; Mr. Baxter and Mr. Goodballet;

Rules: Mr. Hill, chairman; Mr. Heddleston and Mr. Shingler;

Communications and petitions; Mr. Johnson, chairman; Mr. Goodballet and Mr. Ridge.

Council members appointed to the police pension board are Mr. Goodballet and Mr. Baxter and to the firemen's pension board, Mr. Ridge and Mr. Hill.

To Study Finances Tonight

Mr. Shingler said the first act of the new finance committee, which retains the same members who served the last two years, will be an informal discussion tonight on plans for drafting a temporary appropriation to meet first city payrolls.

City Auditor E. Allan McKeever said the first payday is slated for Jan. 18 and councilmen said it is probable that the initial financial set-up will be completed by then. The temporary appropriation is good only until April 1.

Retiring Service Director Watkin made what councilmen said was "one of the finest" concluding speeches given on the council floor, during which he offered his services, at any time needed, to Mayor Devon or any of his appointees.

"After all," he said, "I'm still a citizen of East Liverpool!"

Water To Be Cleared Soon

Mr. Watkin, who relinquishes his position to Mr. Bloor next Monday, told councilmen that the installation of new chlorination machinery which he recently has ordered for the waterworks filter pump, soon will eliminate the nasty taste and odor of the city's water.

The synthetic rubber plant at Kobuta is responsible for the waste products being emptied into the river, Mr. Watkin said.

He said Chester and Newell are not affected because both towns have "crib" filter systems, different from the one in use by the city now.

Mr. Watkin also told councilmen that he has begun putting "some" of the city's industrial plants on a metered water consumption and said he hopes the new administration will continue the policy until the city is completely metered.

Says Rate Reduction Possible

He cited the savings which would be effected under a metered plan and said a 15 to 20 percent rate reduction would be possible if the city were completely metered.

He reported to council that the city waterworks, in 1943, collected a total of $125,964.14. He added that when he took office in 1940, the city was $18,200 in the "red" in the waterworks department and that he leaves it with a $50,000 surplus.

He said that a total of $18,000 in delinquent water bills, some reaching as far back as 12 years, had been collected during his term of office.

Reviewing the impressive figures, Mr. Watkin commended "the entire water department and everyone in it for the fine cooperation they've extended to me."

Thanks Public For Levy O.K.

The retiring director also gave a blanket vote of thanks to the public for its approval of the 1½-mill garbage levy and singled out for praise the street department crew.

"These men," he said, referring to the street workers, "are some of the finest we have. They do work that very, very few men in the city would do and they deserve and need a lot of consideration."

He especially lauded the street workers for their work during the New Year's floor here a year ago when, he said, they worked in snow, sleet and rain until early hours in the morning evacuating flooded-out families.

Going into unusual detail, Mr. Watkin praised Jesse Reed, 75-year-old member of the street force, who, he said, worked with other members of the crew during the flood and appeared for work the next day.

All subordinate jobs in the street force are patronage positions which are open to shifts by the new administration.

Police Pay Boost Asked

Patrolman George Kidd appeared before council requesting an $18 increase in wages for each patrolman, which would bring their salaries to $198 per man per month.

The police department representative also asked for a $35 increase for the police captain, bringing his salary to $225 per month and a $50 increase for the police chief, raising his wages to $250 a month.

Fire Chief Charles Bryan, representing the fire department, said the group is raising its wage increase requests to council and now asks $200 per month for each fireman. They are now earning $170.

He asked for a $25 monthly increase for his assistant chief, which would bring his salary to $225 per month, and a $50 increase for himself, raising his own to $250 per month.

New Rule Considered

In a caucus session, one of the rules to be submitted to the rules committee for consideration is a proposed regulation which would force municipal employes seeking wage increases to have the indorsement of their department heads before coming to council.

The committee is expected to act on the rule by the next meeting date.

Council also considered street complaints from Drane alley and Wyoming ave. and received a claim from William VanDyne of Leonard ave. for $10.05 for two damaged tires and tubes which was turned over to the claims committee.

Council held its caucus session in its own caucus room, reclaimed from the civilian defense board which used it as a control center during blackout sessions.

The next regular council session will be Jan. 17.

MIDLAND'S COUNCIL ORGANIZED FOR 1944

According to Prosecuting Attorney Frank Springer, the jury will complete its work probably Wednesday, when it will make its report. Some 12 or 15 cases, in which about 50 witnesses are to be questioned, will be investigated.

Harry Young of Salem was named foreman of the grand jury. Other members include William E. White, Mrs. Jennie M. Mackall, Andrew Biram and Garland Gilkinson, East Liverpool; Mrs. Ralph Tolerton, Mrs. A. H. Vaughn, Mrs. Laura B. Webster and Mrs. Anna J. Flickinger, Salem; Mrs. Hazel Lower, D. S. ECONOMIST SEES END OF FARMERS' SUBSIDY

Special To The Review.

LISBON, Jan. 4 — Government subsidizing of farm products to keep prices down and to guard against inflation is at an end, Virgil Wertz, rural economist at Ohio State university, told a group of farmers at a meeting Monday night in the David Anderson High school auditorium.

Mr. Wertz discussed farm products and wages and said that the government's plan to "hold the line" so far as wages are concerned, had been ruined because of advances granted miners and the steel industry and which will be granted railroad employes.

The attendance at the meeting was not large due to bad weather and widespread sickness.

BUZZARD KEEPS SCHOOL BOARD CHAIRMANSHIP

Sant Named Vice President; Gaston Is Reelected Clerk; Sheppard, Hall Sworn

Raymond S. Buzzard, attorney, was reelected president of the East Liverpool district board of education at the 1944 reorganization meeting Monday night.

Mr. Buzzard, beginning his second term of four years as a member of the board, already has headed the group for two years, having been named to the office in 1942 following the retirement of J. T. Williamson.

Richard B. Sant, who was not present last night, was named vice president, succeeding Walter Ashbaugh, whose term expired. Emmett J. Gaston was reelected clerk-treasurer for a term of one year at a salary of $1,250.

New Members Seated

Louis Sheppard and O. E. Hall were sworn in as new members by Mr. Gaston. They took places vacated by Mr. Ashbaugh and Harry Altman. Mr. Ashbaugh had served one term while Mr. Altman had completed his second term. The second and fourth Mondays of each month were continued for the regular meeting.

The reorganization meeting followed a brief session of the retiring board during which minutes of the previous meeting were approved and other unfinished business disposed of. The old board then adjourned sine die, turning over affairs to the new board.

Mr. Buzzard said standing committees will be announced at next Monday night's meeting. It is possible that a financial report of the schools for 1944 will be ready for this session. In the absence of a settlement for personal taxes collected by the county treasurer, Mr. Gaston was unable to furnish the board with a statement of finances last night.

Little Business At Hand

Little business of any importance was taken up last night. A contract for recharging 102 chemical fire extinguishers in the schools was awarded to Charles Bryan, fire chief, on his bid of $50. J. W. Manor submitted a bid of $52.25.

Supt. M. W. Essex reported that he had contacted John L. McCullough, representative of the Harry Dougherty and Sons Co., of Freeport Pa., regarding completion of the heating system in the new high school auditorium-gymnasium, who advised him that completion of the job here had been delayed because of a shortage of sheet metal workers and an epidemic of influenza. Mr. McCullough asked that the board "bear with us just a little longer" to complete the project the superintendent reported.

Supt. Essex said that the painting work in the six elementary schools which had been undertaken during the holiday vacation, has virtually been completed by the three contractors.

The work in the Central and Sixth Street buildings is finished while only border lines are to be applied at the Washington and Horace Mann buildings. Border lines will be painted and corridors completed in the Third Street building this week. Three classrooms in the Taft school also have been completed.

The board approved an extra payment of $75 to the Glenn Painting Co. for the additional work of patching cracks in the plaster in the vestibules and cloakrooms at the Central building before the painting was started.

Fireproofing of the coal storage room in the Horace Mann school also was completed during the holiday recess, Mr. Essex said. This work was done by the Potters Lumber Co. for $225.

Improvements to the locker rooms in the high school building also are about done. The girls' room has been finished and the boys' shower room will be ready before the end of the week. These two rooms were rebuilt with tiled walls and floor and new showers and fixtures.

The project of providing office quarters for the research director, attendance officer and clerk of the board in the former classroom adjoining the superintendent's office in the high school building also has been finished. A book supply room also was provided.

Supt. Essex advised the board that a driver has been engaged to succeed Charles L. Wright to take his place on the school bus. He said that a recommendation for the appointment of a driver to a permanent position will be ready for submission to the board, probobly next Monday night.

COMMISSIONERS PICK FISHER AS PRESIDENT

County Board Defers Action On 1944 Appropriations

Special To The Review.

LISBON, Jan. 4—The Columbiana county board of commissioners held its initial meeting of the new year Monday, and reorganized with the election of Frank M. Fisher of Calcutta as president, succeeding John E. Smith.

Clarence L. Robinson was elected vice president, and Lester W. Sexton was reappointed clerk.

The board continued until a later date the annual appropriations to the various offices, but meantime approved a temporary operating budget for the first three months on the basis of expenditures in 1943.

Meanwhile, the county government will continue to operate on the financial schedule in use in December. Commissioners said that salaries will remain the same this year as last.

The final preparation of the budget and the annual appropriations will be made by the board of commissioners as soon as the county auditor and budget commission certify the amount of estimated revenue for this year.

Three Years Ago American Motorists Started An 80,000,000-MILE ROAD TEST OF SYNTHETIC RUBBER

The first passenger car tires made with synthetic rubber ever to be sold to the public were announced 3 years ago by B. F. Goodrich — the Ameripol Silvertowns. In these tires over half the natural rubber was replaced by the B. F. Goodrich synthetic, Ameripol. The result was the greatest road test of passenger car tires in history . . . a test that totaled 80,000,000 miles.

The experience gained from this test has given B. F. Goodrich vital help in making today's tires . . . tires in which 99% of the natural rubber has been replaced with the government's "GR-S" synthetic.

But remember—there is still a rubber shortage. And every patriotic American must continue to drive carefully, and to get every possible mile from his present tires. Wasting rubber wastes America's strength.

COUNCIL PLANS YEAR'S WORK IN FIRST MEETING

Devon, Bloor, McGeehan At Session; 7 Committees Announced For Amos

A re-organized city council, with its three new members, held its first regular meeting Monday night, heard committee appointments, welcomed Mayor Arnold W. Devon and some of his new appointees and made plans to begin work on a temporary municipal fund appropriation.

Council President Homer Amos was taken suddenly ill Monday afternoon so Councilman John Shingler, who was elected temporary chairman and then permanent president pro tem, presided over the entire meeting last night.

Mayor Devon, Safety-Service Director-designate Lawrence Bloor and Pumping Station Foreman Vincent J. McGeehan were welcomed by councilmen and by William Watkin, retiring service director, appointee of former Mayor O. Earl Greenawalt.

New Councilmen Take Seats

Those re-elected to their present posts are Third Ward Councilman John Shingler, Fourth Ward Councilman Paul Johnson and Councilmen-at-large William Ridge and John G. Hill.

G. Arthur Shone, who has held the post for 23 years, was re-elected council clerk.

Mr. Amos' committee appointments, which he made prior to his illness, were announced by Mr. Shingler.

Standing Committees Named

The standing committees for the next two years follow:

Finance: John Shingler, chairman; John G. Hill and Paul Johnson;

Ordinance: Bert Goodballet, chairman; William Ridge and Mr. Hill;

Franchise: Mr. Ridge, chairman; Mr. Johnson and Paul Baxter.

Claims: Mr. Baxter, chairman; Mr. Shingler and Edgar Heddleston;

Streets: Mr. Heddleston, chairman; Mr. Baxter and Mr. Goodballet;

Rules: Mr. Hill, chairman; Mr. Heddleston and Mr. Shingler;

Communications and petitions; Mr. Johnson, chairman; Mr. Goodballet and Mr. Ridge.

Council members appointed to the police pension board are Mr. Goodballet and Mr. Baxter and to the firemen's pension board, Mr. Ridge and Mr. Hill.

To Study Finances Tonight

Mr. Shingler said the first act of the new finance committee, which retains the same members who served the last two years, will be an informal discussion tonight on plans for drafting a temporary appropriation to meet first city payrolls.

City Auditor E. Allan McKeever said the first payday is slated for Jan. 18 and councilmen said it is probable that the initial financial set-up will be completed by then. The temporary appropriation is good only until April 1.

Retiring Service Director Watkin made what councilmen said was "one of the finest" concluding speeches given on the council floor, during which he offered his services, at any time needed, to Mayor Devon or any of his appointees.

"After all," he said, "I'm still a citizen of East Liverpool!"

Water To Be Cleared Soon

Mr. Watkin, who relinquishes his position to Mr. Bloor next Monday, told councilmen that the installation of new chlorination machinery which he recently has ordered for the waterworks filter pump, soon will eliminate the nasty taste and odor of the city's water.

The synthetic rubber plant at Kobuta is responsible for the waste products being emptied into the river, Mr. Watkin said.

He said Chester and Newell are not affected because both towns have "crib" filter systems, different from the one in use by the city now.

Mr. Watkin also told councilmen that he has begun putting "some" of the city's industrial plants on a metered water consumption and said he hopes the new administration will continue the policy until the city is completely metered.

Says Rate Reduction Possible

He cited the savings which would be effected under a metered plan and said a 15 to 20 percent rate reduction would be possible if the city were completely metered.

He reported to council that the city waterworks, in 1943, collected a total of $125,964.14. He added that when he took office in 1940, the city was $18,200 in the "red" in the waterworks department and that he leaves it with a $50,000 surplus.

He said that a total of $18,000 in delinquent water bills, some reaching as far back as 12 years, had been collected during his term of office.

Reviewing the impressive figures, Mr. Watkin commended "the entire water department and everyone in it for the fine cooperation they've extended to me."

Thanks Public For Levy O.K.

The retiring director also gave a blanket vote of thanks to the public for its approval of the 1½-mill garbage levy and singled out for praise the street department crew.

"These men," he said, referring to the street workers, "are some of the finest we have. They do work that very, very few men in the city would do and they deserve and need a lot of consideration."

He especially lauded the street workers for their work during the New Year's floor here a year ago when, he said, they worked in snow, sleet and rain until early hours in the morning evacuating flooded-out families.

Going into unusual detail, Mr. Watkin praised Jesse Reed, 75-year-old member of the street force, who, he said, worked with other members of the crew during the flood and appeared for work the next day.

All subordinate jobs in the street force are patronage positions which are open to shifts by the new administration.

Police Pay Boost Asked

Patrolman George Kidd appeared before council requesting an $18 increase in wages for each patrolman, which would bring their salaries to $198 per man per month.

The police department representative also asked for a $35 increase for the police captain, bringing his salary to $225 per month and a $50 increase for the police chief, raising his wages to $250 a month.

Fire Chief Charles Bryan, representing the fire department, said the group is raising its wage increase requests to council and now asks $200 per month for each fireman. They are now earning $170.

He asked for a $25 monthly increase for his assistant chief, which would bring his salary to $225 per month, and a $50 increase for himself, raising his own to $250 per month.

New Rule Considered

In a caucus session, one of the rules to be submitted to the rules committee for consideration is a proposed regulation which would force municipal employes seeking wage increases to have the indorsement of their department heads before coming to council.

The committee is expected to act on the rule by the next meeting date.

Council also considered street complaints from Drane alley and Wyoming ave. and received a claim from William VanDyne of Leonard ave. for $10.05 for two damaged tires and tubes which was turned over to the claims committee.

Council held its caucus session in its own caucus room, reclaimed from the civilian defense board which used it as a control center during blackout sessions.

The next regular council session will be Jan. 17.

Leon C. Ensinger of Pleasant Heights asked the new council's support on behalf of the district in the bus dispute.

Harry Young of Salem was named foreman of the grand jury. Other members include William E. White, Mrs. Jennie M. ECONOMIST SEES END OF FARMERS' SUBSIDY

Special To The Review.

LISBON, Jan. 4 — Government subsidizing of farm products to keep prices down and to guard against inflation is at an end, Virgil Wertz, rural economist at Ohio State university, told a group of farmers at a meeting Monday night in the David Anderson High school auditorium.

Mr. Wertz discussed farm products and wages and said that the government's plan to "hold the line" so far as wages are concerned, had been ruined because of advances granted miners and the steel industry and which will be granted railroad employes.

The attendance at the meeting was not large due to bad weather and widespread sickness.

BUZZARD KEEPS SCHOOL BOARD CHAIRMANSHIP

Sant Named Vice President; Gaston Is Reelected Clerk; Sheppard, Hall Sworn

Raymond S. Buzzard, attorney, was reelected president of the East Liverpool district board of education at the 1944 reorganization meeting Monday night.

Mr. Buzzard, beginning his second term of four years as a member of the board, already has headed the group for two years, having been named to the office in 1942 following the retirement of J. T. Williamson.

Richard B. Sant, who was not present last night, was named vice president, succeeding Walter Ashbaugh, whose term expired. Emmett J. Gaston was reelected clerk-treasurer for a term of one year at a salary of $1,250.

New Members Seated

Louis Sheppard and O. E. Hall were sworn in as new members by Mr. Gaston. They took places vacated by Mr. Ashbaugh and Harry Altman. Mr. Ashbaugh had served one term while Mr. Altman had completed his second term. The second and fourth Mondays of each month were continued for the regular meeting.

The reorganization meeting followed a brief session of the retiring board during which minutes of the previous meeting were approved and other unfinished business disposed of. The old board then adjourned sine die, turning over affairs to the new board.

Mr. Buzzard said standing committees will be announced at next Monday night's meeting. It is possible that a financial report of the schools for 1944 will be ready for this session. In the absence of a settlement for personal taxes collected by the county treasurer, Mr. Gaston was unable to furnish the board with a statement of finances last night.

Little Business At Hand

Little business of any importance was taken up last night. A contract for recharging 102 chemical fire extinguishers in the schools was awarded to Charles Bryan, fire chief, on his bid of $50. J. W. Manor submitted a bid of $52.25.

Supt. M. W. Essex reported that he had contacted John L. McCullough, representative of the Harry Dougherty and Sons Co., of Freeport Pa., regarding completion of the heating system in the new high school auditorium-gymnasium, who advised him that completion of the job here had been delayed because of a shortage of sheet metal workers and an epidemic of influenza. Mr. McCullough asked that the board "bear with us just a little longer" to complete the project the superintendent reported.

Supt. Essex said that the painting work in the six elementary schools which had been undertaken during the holiday vacation, has virtually been completed by the three contractors.

The work in the Central and Sixth Street buildings is finished while only border lines are to be applied at the Washington and Horace Mann buildings. Border lines will be painted and corridors completed in the Third Street building this week. Three classrooms in the Taft school also have been completed.

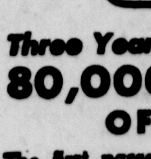
The board approved an extra payment of $75 to the Glenn Painting Co. for the additional work of patching cracks in the plaster in the vestibules and cloakrooms at the Central building before the painting was started.

Fireproofing of the coal storage room in the Horace Mann school also was completed during the holiday recess, Mr. Essex said. This work was done by the Potters Lumber Co. for $225.

Improvements to the locker rooms in the high school building also are about done. The girls' room has been finished and the boys' shower room will be ready before the end of the week. These two rooms were rebuilt with tiled walls and floor and new showers and fixtures.

The project of providing office quarters for the research director, attendance officer and clerk of the board in the former classroom adjoining the superintendent's office in the high school building also has been finished. A book supply room also was provided.

Supt. Essex advised the board that a driver has been engaged to succeed Charles L. Wright to take his place on the school bus. He said that a recommendation for the appointment of a driver to a permanent position will be ready for submission to the board, probobly next Monday night.



Tires Smooth? Get them Recapped..or Get New Ones if you can qualify.

Three Years Ago American Motorists Started An 80,000,000-MILE ROAD TEST OF SYNTHETIC RUBBER

The first passenger car tires made with synthetic rubber ever to be sold to the public were announced 3 years ago by B. F. Goodrich — the Ameripol Silvertowns. In these tires over half the natural rubber was replaced by the B. F. Goodrich synthetic, Ameripol. The result was the greatest road test of passenger car tires in history . . . a test that totaled 80,000,000 miles.

The experience gained from this test has given B. F. Goodrich vital help in making today's tires . . . tires in which 99% of the natural rubber has been replaced with the government's "GR-S" synthetic.

But remember—there is still a rubber shortage. And every patriotic American must continue to drive carefully, and to get every possible mile from his present tires. Wasting rubber wastes America's strength.

COMMISSIONERS PICK FISHER AS PRESIDENT

County Board Defers Action On 1944 Appropriations

Special To The Review.

LISBON, Jan. 4—The Columbiana county board of commissioners held its initial meeting of the new year Monday, and reorganized with the election of Frank M. Fisher of Calcutta as president, succeeding John E. Smith.

Clarence L. Robinson was elected vice president, and Lester W. Sexton was reappointed clerk.

The board continued until a later date the annual appropriations to the various offices, but meantime approved a temporary operating budget for the first three months on the basis of expenditures in 1943.

Meanwhile, the county government will continue to operate on the financial schedule in use in December. Commissioners said that salaries will remain the same this year as last.

The final preparation of the budget and the annual appropriations will be made by the board of commissioners as soon as the county auditor and budget commission certify the amount of estimated revenue for this year.

Year Of Accomplishment

OUR preoccupation with the tremendous possibilities of a new year makes it difficult to realize that in perspective 1943 may have been the year of America's great accomplishment in the war.

Production statistics, military figures and shipping records tell only part of the story. A more important part is beyond exact calculation. It consists of an appraisal of the nation's fulfillment of its wartime destiny.

The war is vastly more than a test of arms. In final analysis, the strength of the arms, themselves, is determined by the strength of the people who employ them.

At the beginning of 1943, Americans wanted to believe they were capable of doing the job assigned to them by the circumstances of the war. We faced the belief of their enemies that we were incapable. It was a challenge to spirit as well as to security. We could not be too sure that the democracy was as strong as it needed to be.

The challenge was answered successfully during 1943. We proved to ourselves that we were adequate. With the task of proving it to our enemies still ahead, we can yet face it with the certainty that having performed the lesser part capably the remainder will be handled equally well.

We made, also, an important discovery—the discovery that in wartime anticipation outruns realization. The war did not end in 1943, as many wanted it to end and persuaded themselves that it would end. It may end in 1944 (or some of it may), but there is less inclination now than there was a year ago to think that mere determination can bring it to a speedier conclusion than is made possible by the realities of combat, distance and terrain.

But whatever happens in 1944 will have been predetermined by what happened in 1943—and at the beginning of a new year we may say with confidence that it was a year of tremendous accomplishment.

Confusing Precedent

THOUGH grounds for comparison with government intercession in the railroad industry beginning Dec. 31, 1917, are shaky and unreliable, that comparison is being made. The difference must be noted, to avert misunderstanding.

Government seizure of the railroads in 1917 was for the purpose of expediting rail transportation; under private management, the railroads were not doing what needed to be done to serve the national war effort. Government operation, though costly, did improve performance. The operating deficit so frequently referred to was incurred in pursuit of a worthy purpose, because a complete breakdown of rail transportation seemed imminent at the end of 1917.

In the present instance, on the other hand, the railroads have performed excellently, with almost no criticism. They were abreast or ahead of all the exigencies of their wartime job. They were taken over by the government in order to block a labor crisis which was largely of the government's own making in connection with interpretations of wage stabilization policy. Whereas in 1918, it was questionable whether railroads ever would revert to private operation, today it is acknowledged that the purely nominal government operation is strictly temporary, for the limited purpose of keeping railroad labor on the job by making it responsible to government.

It seems to tell something about private management's prestige since World war I that today no one questions its superiority over government management, while a quarter of a century ago a large part of the public thought government management was the answer to something.

There's No Law Against It

THE treasury report showing War Bond redemption at a rate of one fourth of sales during the first eight days of this month is some of the worst news of the war.

There's no law against cashing in War Bonds. The redemption rate is determined wholly by the attitude of the bondholders; he can guard his investment and his country by holding his bonds until they mature, or he can use them as spending reserves.

But if the bonds are used in that manner, short of actual necessity, as distinct from convenience in connection, say, with Christmas shopping, an investor loses the security represented by the bonds and the government loses the stabilization they are intended to create and maintain.

In the last analysis, the use of bonds as an instrument of fiscal policy in wartime becomes an operation in public confidence. Without confidence, they would not be purchased in the first place. Without confidence, they would not be held.

While there is no evidence that the soaring redemption rate at the moment is the result of anything but large numbers of citizens drawing on their holdings as spending reserves during the holiday shopping season, the ultimate effect of such a practice, if it continued, could be as serious as Pearl Harbor.

Today And Tomorrow

We've Faced Test And Passed With Flying Colors; Our Small Change Transactions Will Be Forgotten

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE year which lies behind us will in the perspective of time be remembered proudly and gratefully. The calendar year is a little short, in fact the historic year began in the autumn of 1942 with the defense of Stalingrad, the landings at Guadalcanal and in North Africa, the victory at El Alamein.

These were the turning points of the worldwide war. They were turned by the constancy and the valor of the peoples; by the wisdom and practical intelligence of their leaders and commanders.

The nations have been put to the test and they have met the test. Facing defeat, they have not despaired. Confronted with impossible tasks, they have accomplished them.

In the judgment of history there will stand forth the grand result and not the trouble and confusion by which we have reached it.

The little excitements and worries of the hour, which have seemed so important when three or four tried men have come together to shake their heads, sink into insignificance before the grand result.

The armies are mobilized, are trained, are equipped, are deployed and are in action. The alliance which wages war and must inaugurate and institute the peace is more solid today than any one dared to hope it could become.

WE may say with sober confidence that we shall have the victory and that we shall come through the ordeal into one of the great epochs of human history.

We have faced fearful danger and a monstrous evil; let us not be too timid to believe that in the certain triumph of this righteous cause our children will find peace and the good life again.

Our assurance that this is so rests upon the proven fact that for the greatest things in this enormous conflict—for resistance to evil, to wait, the resolution to work, the readiness to endure—our people have not been wanting. It is in the incidental and secondary things that we have been least successful.

The nagging contentions which disgust us and disgrace us have not been about the central and mighty issues of this momentous struggle.

The contentions have been about 17 cents an hour and 2 cents a quart for milk, and a few dollars of taxes, and a little more or a little less profit on a war contract; the contentions have been about who should stay in a public office or who should replace him, and how to finagle to stay in and how to maneuver to get in.

These are the small change of the small transactions of small men who live in the little private worlds of their personal grievances and their private ambitions, while the majestic drama of the great world, which alone can give purpose and meaning to any human life today, passes them by.

YET the momentum of the great undertaking of our people will overcome them and carry them along.

The reaction against the small complainers and the schemers already has set in.

It is welling up out of the armies and out of the mothers and fathers and wives of the men at arms and out of the soul of the whole people.

They will not tolerate any longer this private trifling with the destiny of the republic. It is the utter indignity of the spectacle, even more than the cost and the danger, which they profoundly resent.

They will not put up with the degradation of a cause for which men have staked their lives.

The private interests, the special groups, the blocs, the lobbyists, the machine politicians, have had their field day.

The nation has been threatened by strikes, by legislative raids and by factional and partisan intrigue.

Now the nation must have order, discipline and a patriotic rededication. And it will have them because it must have them.

And the nation will get them by the revival of the leadership of the President, by a recovery of its dignity in the congress when it returns and by an aroused and relentless public sentiment.

This must come because we shall not betray the men who are moving into battle or permit stupid and greedy men to make disorder in the country for which our armies fight and to which our armies will soon come home.

WE shall not fail this time. The great things are going well, and they have been made to go well by thought and work and faith, not by accident and good luck.

We and our allies are earning the victories we shall win; we have come out of the depths of disaster by our effort, and we are earning the victory and the peace which will follow in the hard way.

And because the people have been tested in the fire, they are toughened and they will not surrender to private triflers the right to shape that future which now belongs to them.

This time we shall have a victory that cannot be reversed. This time we shall have a peace that lasts. This time we shall judge all the complications of the world after the war by the measure of the sacrifice of the war itself.

And so we shall master the complications.

We shall not yield to them and become confused by them, but we shall master them—scattering the dividers, subverters and obstructors—with certain faith and an iron will.

Tedder: Invader No. 2

THE Anglo-American high command must have thought back to the black days of Crete when it designated Air Chief Marshall Sir Arthur Tedder as deputy to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of the invasion army that will hit Hitler's fortress from a new direction.

For as a result of home criticism of that disaster, when the British army was pounded into defeat without air support, Tedder was promoted to air officer commander-in-chief in the Middle East.

SIR ARTHUR TEDDER

"A headquarters bloke."

Tedder was an old hand at combat aviation who conceived the air arm as a dealer of haymakers for the ground forces. But he had no chance to put his ideas to work before Rommel struck early in 1942 and drove the British deep into Egypt.

When the great British counter offensive was mounted bomb-dazed German prisoners said they never had suffered such punishment from the sky. Tedder fitted this pattern of destruction into the intricate jigsaw of amphibious invasion of Sicily and Italy.

Two years out of Cambridge Tedder was commissioned in the Dorsetshire regiment in 1914, fought with honor in the Royal Flying corps in France and Egypt in World War I.

Peace years found him climbing steadily up the aerial ladder. When World War II broke Tedder was director general of research and development for the Royal Air Force, but in 1940 was shifted to the middle east as deputy air officer commander-in-chief of the R.A.F.

In July of 1942 he was elevated to the temporary rank of air chief marshal.

Among his men, the 53-year-old Tedder who does not look the warrior, is known as "The Chief". Short, lean, jug-eared, his twinkling blue eyes reflect a fondness for joking and wisecracks.

There is a story that he appeared unexpectedly and unrecognized in a squadron post—a favorite Tedder pastime—and was kidded by the men because he wore a regulation black tie.

"Oh," Tedder told the kidders, "I'm a headquarters bloke. You know how stuffy The Chief is."

Early Furloughs For Boys Abroad?

Roosevelt Impressed With Homesickness In Eyes Of Lads Away From Home

By JACK STINNETT

THERE is a little story drifting out of the White House these days, which isn't in any way authenticated by official pronouncements, but is nevertheless interesting. It is to the effect that President Roosevelt, on his recent trip to Teheran and back talked to hundreds of enlisted men and was deeply concerned over the almost unanimous expressions of homesickness and desire on the part of the boys to get back home for a while.

The impossibility of shifting men back and forth from our far-flung battlefronts is obvious, but rumors on the war department pipelines are to the effect that the President has put it up to the powers to see if something can't be done about relieving the men who have been a year or two away from home and most of that time under fire.

Best guesses here are that nothing will happen in over-all policy. Seasoned warriors are too much needed on the firing lines.

But it is considered likely that the war department may adopt loosely the same policy that the air force has: Giving rest, recreation and even home leaves to men who have been long in the thick of things.

NOT for a while at least has there been any better illustration of the difficulties which beset Washington reporters than what happened the other night at Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean's big dinner party for Grace Moore and Noel Coward.

When it was all over, a breathless young woman reporter rushed up to Mrs. Gruening and Mrs. McNutt.

"What did Mr. Coward say?" she asked. "What did you talk about?" The answer was something like this: Well—er—really we don't remember. It was all most entertaining, really, and Mr. Coward is quite charming, but we can't think of any direct quotes.

Undaunted, the young woman hurried around to see Sen. Barkley and Mr. Justice Douglas.

"What did you and Miss Moore talk about?" she asked. Well—er, the answer came, we don't quite remember. We didn't talk much about much. Let's see. No, we can't think of anything specific, but Miss Moore was really most charming, gay, pleasant, and interesting.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Coward's principal contribution from a reportorial standpoint was that he would like to follow up his immediate Mediterranean tour of entertainment for soldiers with a junket to Alaska and the Aleutians, where the boys have had far less attention from entertainers than have the men in Iceland.

Miss Moore's chief concern was apologies for husband Valentin Parera, who got caught in the flu epidemic a few hours before the party was called to order.

The Bolivian Dilemma

(From Foreign Policy Bulletin.)

THE revolution of Dec. 20 which forced Gen. Enrique Penaranda del Castillo from the presidency of Bolivia and brought to power Maj. Gaulberto Villarroel has confronted the state department with an embarassing dilemma.

The problem is to decide, on the basis of available evidence, whether Penaranda's ouster was inspired by sinister Nazi or Argentine elements who took advantage of internal unrest for their own ends or or by a genuine revolt against the social repressions of his regime, which already had provoked several crises.

It is too early as yet to assert that the National Revolutionary movement ,which under the leadership of Victor Estenssoro—recently back from a visit to Argentina—carried out the coup, is liberal or illiberal.

What is undeniable is that Bolivia has long been ripe for political violence.

The miserable working and living conditions of the tin miners, the country's most important industrial workers, have encouraged the activities of extremist elements, both Fascist and Communist.

Moreover, Bolivia, like many other countries of Latin America, is influenced readily by attacks against foreign capital—and, since a large part of the foreign capital invested in the tin mines is either British or American, such attacks, even without Nazi inspiration, easily take the form of criticism of Britain and the United States.

THE state department's embarrassment over the revolt is due to considerable part to the fact that the United States government had displayed friendship for Penaranda—who visited this country in May at the invitation of President Roosevelt — and had shown confidence that his home policies, frequently criticized in Bolivia, would not endanger his regime.

It was Penaranda who took Bolivia into the war on the United Nations' side and kept supplies of Bolivian tin moving northward to the smelter at Texas City, Tex., after Far Eastern tin sources had fallen into Japanese hands.

Acute dissatisfaction with Penaranda, who was inaugurated April 12, 1940, was aroused among groups of the Bolivian population by the massacre of Catavi, Dec. 21, 1942, when soldiers, at the orders of the government, fired at a crowd of 8,000 striking miners, killing 19.

A Bolivian-American commissilon, set up soon afterwards under the chairmanship of Justice Callvert Magruder of the federal circuit court in Boston, investigated the conditions of these miners and found a low wage scale and an absence of elementary safety precautions.

On Dec. 27 Secretary of State Hull said that recognition of the Villarroel government would be witheld until the countries of the western hemisphere could determine whether the revolt had been inspired by Axis sympathizers.

Penaranda, who fled to Arica, Chile, already has stated that the revolution was organized and carried out by Nazis.

According to Carlos Montenegro, new minister of agriculture, the revolution was "popular" and "democratic" and looked "toward better living conditions in the country through improvement of economic and social conditions and the establishment of justice."

However, Americans have noted that the revolt was headed by a group of army leaders who, in recent years, had expressed vigorous anti-Semitic and anti-democratic views, and therefore are taking with a grain of salt the new government's official professions of support for the "common man".

WHILE the controversy over conditions in the tin mines may have been an immediate cause of the Bolivian revolt, at least two other factors deserve consideration.

First of all, the Villarroel regime lost no time in making a bid to nationalist sentiment by reiterating Bolivia's historic claim to a land corridor to the Pacific ocean across the territory of Chile.

Second, Argentina has not only a political but also an economic interest in Bolivia, which it may attempt to strengthen at this time with the aid of the new regime.

It will be recalled that when the pro-Nazi government of German Busch expropriated the oil properties of the Standard Oil Co. in 1937—only to find that it lacked both technicians and equipment to develop them—Argentina, which needs oil, promptly offered its assistance.

The Argentines also definitely were disturbed last June when Brazil offered landlocked Bolivia free port facilities in Santos with the proposal that a new railway line be built to that port, a development which might have diverted Bolivian oil from the Argentine market.

Social ideology may well be at stake in the Estenssoro revolt. But so also are the age-long objects of controversy between nations — strategic territories and raw materials.

George Whiting Still Stands At Top Of list For Cafe Entertainment; He Was Performer's Performer

By DAMON RUNYON

GEORGE WHITING, who died recently, was probably the greatest cafe entertainer who ever lived. I am aware that this statement is taking in a lot of territory, but I guarantee it will be supported by every performer who heard Whiting.

He was a performer's performer. That is to say, the members of his own profession appreciated his ability more than the laity.

I am going back a matter of nearly 30 years on George, when he was in his heyday as an entertainer. The fact no individual has appeared since then to win the professional accolade as better than Whiting gives you an idea of his class.

He was called a singer, yet his singing was more recitative than anything else. I think a better description of him might be song reader or interpreter. He sort of talked a song. He had no great voice but his delivery was entrancing. He had the greatest hands in show business, until Danny Kaye came along. He used them in pantomime. He illustrated a song with them, you might say.

Cafe entertaining is a little world peculiar unto itself. The greatest stage performers that ever peered beyond the footlights might not be worth a nickel in a cafe.

It works the other way, too. Whiting, the king of the cafes, was not a great stage performer, though with his nice little wife, Sadie Burt, he headlined for years in vaudeville.

IN his day, cafe entertaining was a huffle-scuffle proposition. You did not see entertainers spotted with the ceremony of a Harry Richman or a Sophie Tucker of today. The convenience of the entertainer never was considered, and of course the microphone was unknown. Audiences were apt to be a little crude and highly critical.

But in the places in which he worked, sawdust joints, or ornate deadfalls, Whiting always took complete command from the moment of his appearance, whether working from the floor or on a platform. The roughest and noisiest crowds became silent at the sound of his voice.

He used to sing, or rather recite one song that was about the writing of a letter (the title escapes me) in which he used his hands with a grace that I never have seen excelled. In pantomime he would write the words of the letter as he recited, and in pantomime he would seal and stamp and mail the missive. It was a great piece of business.

I believe Tommy Lyman, one of the finest of the cafe entertainers since Whiting, also uses this song—or did. Tommy is reminiscent of George in many ways—in the low-pitched voice, in the use of his hands, and in effectiveness with a certain type of material. George was great with Irish songs, and so is Tommy.

THERE were several songs closely identified with Whiting. One of them had the catchline "and the green grass grows all around," and the other was a wife's reproach to her husband on finding a blond hair on his coat, "Steve, you've got it on your sleeve." Now my memory may err at this point, but it seems to me Bill Kirk, who was a baseball writer for The New York American, wrote the lyric. Bill wrote verse with astonishing facility.

I believe George is credited with a couple of songs with Irving Berlin, "My Wife's Gone to the Country," and the lovely "Blue Heaven". He had his greatest vogue as a cafe entertainer in Chicago, Coney Island and San Francisco, but the later team of Whiting and Burt was quite popular all over the vaudeville bigtime.

Inventory

By Truman Twill

UNLIKE busier establishments with more irons in the fire stuff on the shelves, intangible assets, slow-moving stock and complications in general, this enterprise is not closing down for inventory.

The job can be cleaned up in less time than it takes the boss to find something wrong in the first edition. There is the typewriter, first of all, the only asset of any value—and it never has been the same since it fell on the floor a few years back.

The only other physical property worth mentioning is the desk, a castoff no one wanted because someone had walked on the top with hob-nailed shoes. One of the drawers is jammed and whatever was in there must not have been important because no one ever pried the drawer open.

The scissors are a little duller than they were a year ago, but they still cut paper dolls as well as the next pair. A lot of pencils have come and gone, but there are still three on hand more than 2 inches long, one of them a blue one like a real editor's.

The paper clip supply, despite the metal shortage, remains adequate. It is replenished from day to day by clips filched from publicity handouts. There also is an old knife, used to sharpen pencils when the office pencil sharpener won't work, which is more often than not.

The dictionary has lost a few more leaves in the N section, but there aren't many important words that begin with N anyway. The picture of Mussolini is still in good shape and will stand many more years of withering contemplation. Besides it is a pile of magazines and pamphlets that someone should read sometime.

There are two gum erasers, a big one and a little one, a fountain pen that doesn't work unless dipped in a bottle of ink, an old cigar box full of pills, two used typewriter spools and a patent device to keep a motorist from pushing the accelerator past the victory speed.

There also are a desk calendar newly fitted out with a 1944 pad, approximately a peck of dogeared clippings, a small pile of copy paper, a chair with a genuine sponge rubber pad to while away the time on, a map of Europe and a map of the South Pacific and a pipe used on rare occasions when someone has a new mixture that needs sampling.

In a big envelope are a number of letters from readers and in the back of the mind are a couple of notions for more columns about matters of no importance—and there you have everything. It looks as though things were shipshape for 1944, or at least as shipshape as they were a year ago, which is all anyone has a right to expect in this business.

Q.—What is a diesel engine?

A.—Like the familiar gasoline motor, it is an internal combustion engine, but it uses heavier petroleum oil as fuel, and requires neither carburetor nor spark plugs. Air and oil are admitted separately. The air is first compressed rapidly to raise it to high temperature, and the oil is then sprayed in and ignited by the high temperature.

Q.—Is it possible to produce a perfect vacuum?

A.—It is not possible to produce a perfect vacuum in the laboratory. We can produce a vacuum in which the pressure is only 1-100,000,000,000th of an atmosphere; and for all practical purposes this may be considered a perfect vacuum.

Year Of Accomplishment

OUR preoccupation with the tremendous possibilities of a new year makes it difficult to realize that in perspective 1943 may have been the year of America's great accomplishment in the war.

Production statistics, military figures and shipping records tell only part of the story. A more important part is beyond exact calculation. It consists of an appraisal of the nation's fulfillment of its wartime destiny.

The war is vastly more than a test of arms. In final analysis, the strength of the arms, themselves, is determined by the strength of the people who employ them.

At the beginning of 1943, Americans wanted to believe they were capable of doing the job assigned to them by the circumstances of the war. We faced the belief of their enemies that we were incapable. It was a challenge to spirit as well as to security. We could not be too sure that the democracy was as strong as it needed to be.

The challenge was answered successfully during 1943. We proved to ourselves that we were adequate. With the task of proving it to our enemies still ahead, we can yet face it with the certainty that having performed the lesser part capably the remainder will be handled equally well.

We made, also, an important discovery—the discovery that in wartime anticipation outruns realization. The war did not end in 1943, as many wanted it to end and persuaded themselves that it would end. It may end in 1944 (or some of it may), but there is less inclination now than there was a year ago to think that mere determination can bring it to a speedier conclusion than is made possible by the realities of combat, distance and terrain.

But whatever happens in 1944 will have been predetermined by what happened in 1943—and at the beginning of a new year we may say with confidence that it was a year of tremendous accomplishment.

Confusing Precedent

THOUGH grounds for comparison with government intercession in the railroad industry beginning Dec. 31, 1917, are shaky and unreliable, that comparison is being made. The difference must be noted, to avert misunderstanding.

Government seizure of the railroads in 1917 was for the purpose of expediting rail transportation; under private management, the railroads were not doing what needed to be done to serve the national war effort. Government operation, though costly, did improve performance. The operating deficit so frequently referred to was incurred in pursuit of a worthy purpose, because a complete breakdown of rail transportation seemed imminent at the end of 1917.

In the present instance, on the other hand, the railroads have performed excellently, with almost no criticism. They were abreast or ahead of all the exigencies of their wartime job. They were taken over by the government in order to block a labor crisis which was largely of the government's own making in connection with interpretations of wage stabilization policy. Whereas in 1918, it was questionable whether railroads ever would revert to private operation, today it is acknowledged that the purely nominal government operation is strictly temporary, for the limited purpose of keeping railroad labor on the job by making it responsible to government.

It seems to tell something about private management's prestige since World war I that today no one questions its superiority over government management, while a quarter of a century ago a large part of the public thought government management was the answer to something.

There's No Law Against It

THE treasury report showing War Bond redemption at a rate of one fourth of sales during the first eight days of this month is some of the worst news of the war.

There's no law against cashing in War Bonds. The redemption rate is determined wholly by the attitude of the bondholders; he can guard his investment and his country by holding his bonds until they mature, or he can use them as spending reserves.

But if the bonds are used in that manner, short of actual necessity, as distinct from convenience in connection, say, with Christmas shopping, an investor loses the security represented by the bonds and the government loses the stabilization they are intended to create and maintain.

In the last analysis, the use of bonds as an instrument of fiscal policy in wartime becomes an operation in public confidence. Without confidence, they would not be purchased in the first place. Without confidence, they would not be held.

While there is no evidence that the soaring redemption rate at the moment is the result of anything but large numbers of citizens drawing on their holdings as spending reserves during the holiday shopping season, the ultimate effect of such a practice, if it continued, could be as serious as Pearl Harbor.

Today And Tomorrow

We've Faced Test And Passed With Flying Colors; Our Small Change Transactions Will Be Forgotten

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE year which lies behind us will in the perspective of time be remembered proudly and gratefully. The calendar year is a little short, in fact the historic year began in the autumn of 1942 with the defense of Stalingrad, the landings at Guadalcanal and in North Africa, the victory at El Alamein.

These were the turning points of the worldwide war. They were turned by the constancy and the valor of the peoples; by the wisdom and practical intelligence of their leaders and commanders.

The nations have been put to the test and they have met the test. Facing defeat, they have not despaired. Confronted with impossible tasks, they have accomplished them.

In the judgment of history there will stand forth the grand result and not the trouble and confusion by which we have reached it.

The little excitements and worries of the hour, which have seemed so important when three or four tried men have come together to shake their heads, sink into insignificance before the grand result.

The armies are mobilized, are trained, are equipped, are deployed and are in action. The alliance which wages war and must inaugurate and institute the peace is more solid today than any one dared to hope it could become.

WE may say with sober confidence that we shall have the victory and that we shall come through the ordeal into one of the great epochs of human history.

We have faced fearful danger and a monstrous evil; let us not be too timid to believe that in the certain triumph of this righteous cause our children will find peace and the good life again.

Our assurance that this is so rests upon the proven fact that for the greatest things in this enormous conflict—for resistance to evil, to wait, the resolution to work, the readiness to endure—our people have not been wanting. It is in the incidental and secondary things that we have been least successful.

The nagging contentions which disgust us and disgrace us have not been about the central and mighty issues of this momentous struggle.

The contentions have been about 17 cents an hour and 2 cents a quart for milk, and a few dollars of taxes, and a little more or a little less profit on a war contract; the contentions have been about who should stay in a public office or who should replace him, and how to finagle to stay in and how to maneuver to get in.

These are the small change of the small transactions of small men who live in the little private worlds of their personal grievances and their private ambitions, while the majestic drama of the great world, which alone can give purpose and meaning to any human life today, passes them by.

YET the momentum of the great undertaking of our people will overcome them and carry them along.

The reaction against the small complainers and the schemers already has set in.

It is welling up out of the armies and out of the mothers and fathers and wives of the men at arms and out of the soul of the whole people.

They will not tolerate any longer this private trifling with the destiny of the republic. It is the utter indignity of the spectacle, even more than the cost and the danger, which they profoundly resent.

They will not put up with the degradation of a cause for which men have staked their lives.

The private interests, the special groups, the blocs, the lobbyists, the machine politicians, have had their field day.

The nation has been threatened by strikes, by legislative raids and by factional and partisan intrigue.

Now the nation must have order, discipline and a patriotic rededication. And it will have them because it must have them.

And the nation will get them by the revival of the leadership of the President, by a recovery of its dignity in the congress when it returns and by an aroused and relentless public sentiment.

This must come because we shall not betray the men who are moving into battle or permit stupid and greedy men to make disorder in the country for which our armies fight and to which our armies will soon come home.

WE shall not fail this time. The great things are going well, and they have been made to go well by thought and work and faith, not by accident and good luck.

We and our allies are earning the victories we shall win; we have come out of the depths of disaster by our effort, and we are earning the victory and the peace which will follow in the hard way.

And because the people have been tested in the fire, they are toughened and they will not surrender to private triflers the right to shape that future which now belongs to them.

This time we shall have a victory that cannot be reversed. This time we shall have a peace that lasts. This time we shall judge all the complications of the world after the war by the measure of the sacrifice of the war itself.

And so we shall master the complications.

We shall not yield to them and become confused by them, but we shall master them—scattering the dividers, subverters and obstructors—with certain faith and an iron will.

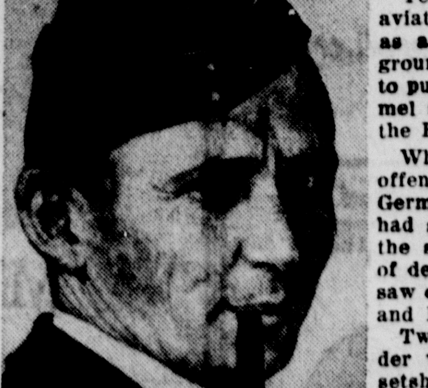
Tedder: Invader No. 2

THE Anglo-American high command must have thought back to the black days of Crete when it designated Air Chief Marshall Sir Arthur Tedder as deputy to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of the invasion army that will hit Hitler's fortress from a new direction.

For as a result of home criticism of that disaster, when the British army was pounded into defeat without air support, Tedder was promoted to air officer commander-in-chief in the Middle East.



SIR ARTHUR TEDDER

"A headquarters bloke."

Tedder was an old hand at combat aviation who conceived the air arm as a dealer of haymakers for the ground forces. But he had no chance to put his ideas to work before Rommel struck early in 1942 and drove the British deep into Egypt.

When the great British counter offensive was mounted bomb dazed German prisoners said they never had suffered such punishment from the sky. Tedder fitted this pattern of destruction into the intricate jigsaw of amphibious invasion of Sicily and Italy.

Two years out of Cambridge Tedder was commissioned in the Dorsetshire regiment in 1914, fought with honor in the Royal Flying corps in France and Egypt in World War I.

Peace years found him climbing steadily up the aerial ladder. When World War II broke Tedder was director general of research and development for the Royal Air Force, but in 1940 was shifted to the middle east as deputy air officer commander-in-chief of the R.A.F.

In July of 1942 he was elevated to the temporary rank of air chief marshal.

Among his men, the 53-year-old Tedder who does not look the warrior, is known as "The Chief". Short, lean, jug-eared, his twinkling blue eyes reflect a fondness for joking and wisecracks.

There is a story that he appeared unexpectedly and unrecognized in a squadron post—a favorite Tedder pastime—and was kidded by the men because he wore a regulation black tie.

"Oh," Tedder told the kidders, "I'm a headquarters bloke. You know how stuffy The Chief is."

The Bolivian Dilemma

THE revolution of Dec. 20 which forced Gen. Enrique Penaranda del Castillo from the presidency of Bolivia and brought to power Maj. Gaulberto Villarroel has confronted the state department with an embarassing dilemma.

Acute dissatisfaction with Penaranda, who was inaugurated April 12, 1940, was aroused among groups of the Bolivian population by the massacre of Catavi, Dec. 21, 1942, when soldiers, at the orders of the government, fired at a crowd of 8,000 striking miners, killing 19.

A Bolivian-American commission, set up soon afterwards under the chairmanship of Justice Callvert Magruder of the federal circuit court in Boston, investigated the conditions of these miners and found a low wage scale and an absence of elementary safety precautions.

On Dec. 27 Secretary of State Hull said that recognition of the Villarroel government would be witheld until the countries of the western hemisphere could determine whether the revolt had been inspired by Axis sympathizers.

Penaranda, who fled to Arica, Chile, already has stated that the revolution was organized and carried out by Nazis.

According to Carlos Montenegro, new minister of agriculture, the revolution was "popular" and "democratic" and looked "toward better living conditions in the country through improvement of economic and social conditions and the establishment of justice."

However, Americans have noted that the revolt was headed by a group of army leaders who, in recent years, had expressed vigorous anti-Semitic and anti-democratic views, and therefore are taking with a grain of salt the new government's official professions of support for the "common man".

WHILE the controversy over conditions in the tin mines may have been an immediate cause of the Bolivian revolt, at least two other factors deserve consideration.

First of all, the Villarroel regime lost no time in making a bid to nationalist sentiment by reiterating Bolivia's historic claim to a land corridor to the Pacific ocean across the territory of Chile.

Second, Argentina has not only a political but also an economic interest in Bolivia, which it may attempt to strengthen at this time with the aid of the new regime.

It will be recalled that when the pro-Nazi government of German Busch expropriated the oil properties of the Standard Oil Co. in 1937—only to find that it lacked both technicians and equipment to develop them—Argentina, which needs oil, promptly offered its assistance.

The Argentines also definitely were disturbed last June when Brazil offered landlocked Bolivia free port facilities in Santos with the proposal that a new railway line be built to that port, a development which might have diverted Bolivian oil from the Argentine market.

Social ideology may well be at stake in the Estenssoro revolt. But so also are the age-long objects of controversy between nations — strategic territories and raw materials.

George Whiting Still Stands At Top Of list For Cafe Entertainment; He Was Performer's Performer

By DAMON RUNYON

GEORGE WHITING, who died recently, was probably the greatest cafe entertainer who ever lived. I am aware that this statement is taking in a lot of territory, but I guarantee it will be supported by every performer who heard Whiting.

He was a performer's performer. That is to say, the members of his own profession appreciated his ability more than the laity.

I am going back a matter of nearly 30 years on George, when he was in his heyday as an entertainer. The fact no individual has appeared since then to win the professional accolade as better than Whiting gives you an idea of his class.

He was called a singer, yet his singing was more recitative than anything else. I think a better description of him might be song reader or interpreter. He sort of talked a song. He had no great voice but his delivery was entrancing. He had the greatest hands in show business, until Danny Kaye came along. He used them in pantomime. He illustrated a song with them, you might say.

Cafe entertaining is a little world peculiar unto itself. The greatest stage performers that ever peered beyond the footlights might not be worth a nickel in a cafe.

It works the other way, too. Whiting, the king of the cafes, was not a great stage performer, though with his nice little wife, Sadie Burt, he headlined for years in vaudeville.

IN his day, cafe entertaining was a huffle-scuffle proposition. You did not see entertainers spotted with the ceremony of a Harry Richman or a Sophie Tucker of today. The convenience of the entertainer never was considered, and of course the microphone was unknown. Audiences were apt to be a little crude and highly critical.

But in the places in which he worked, sawdust joints, or ornate deadfalls, Whiting always took complete command from the moment of his appearance, whether working from the floor or on a platform. The roughest and noisiest crowds became silent at the sound of his voice.

He used to sing, or rather recite one song that was about the writing of a letter (the title escapes me) in which he used his hands with a grace that I never have seen excelled. In pantomime he would write the words of the letter as he recited, and in pantomime he would seal and stamp and mail the missive. It was a great piece of business.

I believe Tommy Lyman, one of the finest of the cafe entertainers since Whiting, also uses this song—or did. Tommy is reminiscent of George in many ways—in the low-pitched voice, in the use of his hands, and in effectiveness with a certain type of material. George was great with Irish songs, and so is Tommy.

THERE were several songs closely identified with Whiting. One of them had the catchline "and the green grass grows all around," and the other was a wife's reproach to her husband on finding a blond hair on his coat, "Steve, you've got it on your sleeve." Now my memory may err at this point, but it seems to me Bill Kirk, who was a baseball writer for The New York American, wrote the lyric. Bill wrote verse with astonishing facility.

I believe George is credited with a couple of songs with Irving Berlin, "My Wife's Gone to the Country," and the lovely "Blue Heaven". He had his greatest vogue as a cafe entertainer in Chicago, Coney Island and San Francisco, but the later team of Whiting and Burt was quite popular all over the vaudeville bigtime.

Inventory

By Truman Twill

UNLIKE busier establishments with more irons in the fire stuff on the shelves, intangible assets, slow-moving stock and complications in general, this enterprise is not closing down for inventory.

The job can be cleaned up in less time than it takes the boss to find something wrong in the first edition. There is the typewriter, first of all, the only asset of any value—and it never has been the same since it fell on the floor a few years back.

The only other physical property worth mentioning is the desk, a castoff no one wanted because someone had walked on the top with hob-nailed shoes. One of the drawers is jammed and whatever was in there must not have been important because no one ever pried the drawer open.

The scissors are a little duller than they were a year ago, but they still cut paper dolls as well as the next pair. A lot of pencils have come and gone, but there are still three on hand more than 2 inches long, one of them a blue one like a real editor's.

The paper clip supply, despite the metal shortage, remains adequate. It is replenished from day to day by clips filched from publicity handouts. There also is an old knife, used to sharpen pencils when the office pencil sharpener won't work, which is more often than not.

The dictionary has lost a few more leaves in the N section, but there aren't many important words that begin with N anyway. The picture of Mussolini is still in good shape and will stand many more years of withering contemplation. Besides it is a pile of magazines and pamphlets that someone should read sometime.

There are two gum erasers, a big one and a little one, a fountain pen that doesn't work unless dipped in a bottle of ink, an old cigar box full of pills, two used typewriter spools and a patent device to keep a motorist from pushing the accelerator past the victory speed.

There also are a desk calendar newly fitted out with a 1944 pad, approximately a peck of dogeared clippings, a small pile of copy paper, a chair with a genuine sponge rubber pad to while away the time on, a map of Europe and a map of the South Pacific and a pipe used on rare occasions when someone has a new mixture that needs sampling.

In a big envelope are a number of letters from readers and in the back of the mind are a couple of notions for more columns about matters of no importance—and there you have everything. It looks as though things were shipshape for 1944, or at least as shipshape as they were a year ago, which is all anyone has a right to expect in this business.

Q.—What is a diesel engine?

A.—Like the familiar gasoline motor, it is an internal combustion engine, but it uses heavier petroleum oil as fuel, and requires neither carburetor nor spark plugs. Air and oil are admitted separately. The air is first compressed rapidly to raise it to high temperature, and the oil is then sprayed in and ignited by the high temperature.

Q.—Is it possible to produce a perfect vacuum?

A.—It is not possible to produce a perfect vacuum in the laboratory. We can produce a vacuum in which the pressure is only 1-100,000,000,000th of an atmosphere; and for all practical purposes this may be considered a perfect vacuum.

COURT GETS A.P. COUNTER-PLANS

Proposed Judgment Due To Clarify U.S. Suggestions

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4—The Associated Press filed in United States district court Monday a proposed form of judgment in the government's anti-trust suit which counsel said will clarify and make more specific suggestions by the government.

A special court ruled Oct. 6 in a 2 to 1 decision that the news cooperative's by-laws "in their present form" violate the anti-trust laws.

Before entering its final judgment, the court asked both parties to submit proposals which, in effect, would be interpretations of what the court meant in its decision.

The department of justice submitted its proposed form of judgment, findings of fact and conclusions of law Nov. 12.

The A.P.'s counter-proposals, filed today, will make numerous changes in phraseology, including specific designation of the by-law regarding admission of members which the court has held is illegal.

A.P. counsel said the counter-proposals were submitted to conform with the court's opinion but made it clear this does not mean the A.P. agrees with the opinion or that the proposals are to be taken as representing the position that A.P. might take on an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Final Court Ruling Next

The next step is for the court to hand down its final ruling. Both sides have 60 days thereafter in which to appeal.

The principal section of the judgment, as A.P. lawyers suggested it should read, follows:

"A.—That the defendants, by promulgating and agreeing to observe Article III, sections 1, 2 and the last sentence of section 3 of the by-laws of the Associated Press, whereby members of the Associated Press publishing newspapers in the same city and in the same 'field' (morning, evening or Sunday) as an applicant, publishing a newspaper in the United States of America or its territories, for membership in the Associated Press may impose, or dispense with, any conditions upon the admission of such applicant, and whereby the defendants, in passing upon an application of such applicant for membership, may take into consideration the effect of admission upon the ability of such applicant to compete with members of the Associated Press in the same city and 'field', have violated an act of congress approved July 2, 1890, entitled 'an act to protect trade and commerce against unlawful restraints and monopolies,' and

"B.—That Article III, sections 1, 2 and the last sentence of Section 3 of the by-laws of the Associated Press, presently in force, are declared and adjudged to be illegal, and hereby are canceled, and the Associated Press, its officers, directors, agents, representatives and employes, and each of its members, their officers, directors, agents, representatives and employes, be, and each of them are, perpetually enjoined and restrained from agreeing to observe and observing said by-laws, and from promulgating, agreeing to observe and observing any new or amended by-laws having a like purpose or effect in respect to admission of members to the Associated Press; provided, however, that nothing herein shall prevent the adoption by the Associated Press or new or amended by-laws which will restrict admission, provided that members in the same city and in the same 'field' (morning, evening or Sunday), as an applicant publishing a newspaper in the United States of America or its territories, shall not have power to impose or dispense with any conditions upon his admission and that the by-laws affirmatively shall declare that the effect of admission upon the ability of such applicant to compete with members in the same city and 'field' shall not be taken into consideration in passing upon his application."

Child Could Make It. No Cooking. Big Saving.

You may not know it, but, in your own kitchen, you can easily prepare a really surprising relief for coughs due to colds. It's old-fashioned—your mother probably used it—but for real results, it can't be beaten.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. No cooking needed. It's no trouble.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in throat and bronchial irritations.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid cough syrup, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick relief, it's a wonder. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, eases the soreness, and makes breathing easy. If not pleased, your money will be refunded.

NEELY CHARGES MOVE TO BUY GOVERNORSHIP

By The Associated Press.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan 4—Gov. M. M. Neely, reporting "the most notorious, brazen attempt that ever has been made to purchase the state's highest elective office," asked a special session of the West Virginia legislature Monday to set up a bi-partisan "watch-dog" committee for elections.

The special session, convened Monday to arrange for voting by soldiers and to consider the "watch-dog" committee matter, was requested to investigate possible election law violations in 1944.

Neely, a Democrat, is a former United States senator.

The governor mentioned no one by name, although criticizing one newspaper as well as the person he charged with attempting to "purchase the state's highest office."

Members of the legislature asserted Neely referred to Raymond J. Funkhouser, wealthy Sheperdstown, W. Va., and Hagerstown, Md., industrialist, who has announced for the Republican nomination for governor, and the Charleston Daily Mail, Republican in policy.

Homemade Sets Of Collars Lend Appealing Look

By ELEANOR ROSS

King Features Syndicate Writer

NOTHING gives such a nice, fresh, dressed-up look as white or light detachable collars. But by the same token, nothing offers such a telltale streak of combined body oil and soot at the end of a single day's wearing. To be immaculately dressed, there should always be on hand a plentiful supply of neckwear so that changes may be made as quickly and as often as desired. It need not cost a lot to have sufficient collars on hand.

For best wear there are delightful lingerie and lace collars, also many sequin or bead studded beauties. For girls on a budget and housewives who want to conserve on both materials and retail goods, lovely easily - laundered neckwear can be made in quantity and at little or negligible cost.

Utilize Discarded Slips

The conservation-minded woman can fashion smart and pretty collars from good areas of fabric left in discarded slips, blouses or nightgowns, from men's shirts, and in fact, from many other bits of whole fabric that might otherwise have been thrown away or gone into the rag bag.

We have seen a very charming and durable collar and cuffs set made from a fine linen guest towel that had been frayed at the hem too badly to give further service in its original form. Actually the set was the idea of a clever twelve-year-old who wanted to give mother something special for the holiday.

Shirt Transformed

We admired another pretty collar made from the back of a discarded blouse of white silk damask, while fabric salvaged from a fine broadcloth shirt has been transformed into a handsome tailored collar and cuff set ideal for a dark coat dress.

To avoid a lot of sewing when replacing collars, fasten them with snap fasteners. For dresses with the V neckline that is so popular these days, an ideal collar is the type made with broad tabs that can be tucked in under the dress. This does away with all need for sewing since the collar may be easily anchored with a brooch or with clips.

674 LICENSES ISSUED IN COUNTY MARRIAGES

Special To The Review.

LISBON, Jan. 4—Although there were many war weddings throughout the country in the past year, Columbiana county recorded 141 fewer licenses in 1943 than were issued in 1942, according to figures in the probate court here.

The court said that there were 674 licenses issued in 1943 compared with 815 the previous year. There also were three bans recorded last year compared to seven the year before.

Hypnotized by promises of power and glory, they gave up every human freedom to follow a fanatic paperhanger.

They fell upon the world and almost crushed it. But not quite. The "decadent" democracies rallied around the banner of liberty. Free peoples applied the dynamics of free enterprise to the grim business of war—and accomplished production miracles.

The sullen slaves of the swastika have come up against a force they cannot master and scarcely comprehend.

It is independence—the common heritage of Americans. Freedom of religion, speech, thought and individual enterprise. The right of every American, within reasonable limits, to enjoy the rewards that his own work may bring.

This is the force that made America. It is devoted today to all-out war. It must not be lost when the war is won.

FREEDOM OF ENTERPRISE—in the electric industry, for example—has given America far more electric power than any other nation in the world. More than all the Axis countries combined. And over 80% is supplied by the electric companies under business management. . . . The same free enterprise that built America, built the electric companies. There is no substitute for it!

—the morning after

Hypnotized by promises of power and glory, they gave up every human freedom to follow a fanatic paperhanger.

They fell upon the world and almost crushed it. But not quite. The "decadent" democracies rallied around the banner of liberty. Free peoples applied the dynamics of free enterprise to the grim business of war—and accomplished production miracles.

The sullen slaves of the swastika have come up against a force they cannot master and scarcely comprehend.

It is independence—the common heritage of Americans. Freedom of religion, speech, thought and individual enterprise. The right of every American, within reasonable limits, to enjoy the rewards that his own work may bring.

This is the force that made America. It is devoted today to all-out war. It must not be lost when the war is won.

FREEDOM OF ENTERPRISE—in the electric industry, for example—has given America far more electric power than any other nation in the world. More than all the Axis countries combined. And over 80% is supplied by the electric companies under business management. . . . The same free enterprise that built America, built the electric companies. There is no substitute for it!

He completed his second class tests Feb. 10, 1941. Red became a first class Scout Aug. 1, 1942, and then transferred to troop 33, when Mr. Garren accepted the new leadership.

WAR LOAN

Bond sales during the drive. In the Third Loan campaign air raid wardens under leadership of Carlos P. Deemer conducted a house-to-house canvass of the city which was credited in large measure with putting East Liverpool "over the top".

The same program is planned this time. Mr. Deemer explained that while only 20 percent of his wardens volunteered for this duty, they succeeded in covering the city almost completely, raising more than half a million dollars. In the two months of September and October, "E" Bond sales through the city's two commercial banks and the postoffice totaled $599,820.

Meetings will he held next week to outline drive plans more in detail, Mr. White said. He announced these committee chairmen:

Labor, James M. Duffy; retail merchants, Robert Guyton; schools, Martin W. Essex; retail clerks, Larry Finlay; ministers, Rev. Clark W. Cooper; teachers, N. H. Lorah; manufacturers, Malcolm W. Thompson; house-to-house, canvass, Mr. Deemer; chain stores and out-of-town corporations, C. V. Hughes; publicity, E. H. Fisk; issuing agency committee, Gordon Starkey, Thomas H. STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 4—Comeback tendencies were exhibited by many leading stocks in today's early market proceedings.

Up fractions at a quiet opening were American Telephone, Radio Corp., Goodyear, Sperry, Dome Mines, J. I. Case and American Distilling "Plain". Small declines were posted for General Motors and Westinghouse.

A prop for aircraft securities was found in the statement of the Douglas company disclosing a current backlog of war orders totaling $3,000,000,000 with this year's production scheduled at 86.4 percent above the record figures achieved in 1943. Other plane manufacturers are expected to show proportionate increases.

area, he added, "enemy air strength seems to be very weak and in such actions as have taken place the Japanese have been on the defensive."

He described as one of the most interesting actions in the area the New Year's day attack by an American carrier task force on Japanese ships off New Ireland.

Two enemy heavy cruisers were hit with 1,000-pound bombs and torpedoes and sunk or beached at Kavieng. In addition, two destroyers were bombed and strafed, one probably sinking and the other suffering severe damage.

Knox asserted the Germans "are imitating the Japanese" in making fantastic claims. He referred specifically to a Berlin broadcast which said 21 United Nations destroyers have been sunk by U-boats in the last 10 days.

On the contrary, he said, the only recent such sinking was that of a destroyer which was torpedoed in the Atlantic Dec. 24.

To a question about Japanese plane production, he replied that available information is "very sketchy".

ed a general "settling down" of the new officials in their jobs.

City Engineer Robert S. Wheatley, formerly of Salineville, joined the new official family today and Mr. Devon said he hopes Lawrence Bloor, safety-service director appointee, will be able to wind up his present business affairs in time to assume office next Monday, the official date.

If he cannot, then William Watkin, retiring director, will remain on the job until relieved, Mr. Devon said.

Loren W. Orr has begun his duties as street foreman, and Vincent J. McGeehan, pumping station foreman, said he plans to assume his duties next Monday.

Mr. Devon and some of his new appointees stressed that in all job changes, every effort will be made to avoid "rushing" the new office holders and to give the former administration's appointees an opportunity to look for other positions.

Once they decorated the graves of the unknown Russian dead. A German soldier caught Valentina in the act and punished her with a slap in the face.

A Soviet official who heard of their deeds and brought the news back to Moscow said the girls still were getting out a paper when he met them and they bashfully tried to hide their ink-stained hands.

"Don't hide your hands, little girls," said the official from Moscow. "Everyone, even the general and Stalin himself, is going to shake them."

Other spearheads of Vatutin's army are pushing toward the Rumanian border, more than 80 miles to the southwest. They slashed the Kazatin - Zhashkov and Kazatin-Uman railways serving the 500,000 Germans believed still in southern Russia.

On the Baltic front Gen. Ivan Bagramian's troops are reported within 45 miles of Latvia.

Truman Group Rejects Quiz

Green, recalling the New Year's eve statement that rail and steel strike threats may have delayed victory by giving Hitler's propagandists a telling talking point, said responsibility for the disputes "rests entirely upon bungling, fumbling and incompetent handling by government officials and agencies."

The Truman committee decided Monday not to undertake an investigation of the statement.

Chairman Truman (D) of Missouri said the committee's attention had been called to news reports that railroad union leaders were planning to ask an inquiry by the senate war investigating committee of the source of the charges.

"The members of the committee were unanimously of the opinion that this matter is outside our jurisdiction," Truman said.

Asked if he had any personal comment to make on the statement, Truman replied:

"All I can say is that I wish the spokesman had not made it."

So far as talk about steel strikes is concerned, Philip Murray, CIO president, said today at Pittsburgh that the industry now is turning out more than the war effort can use and the excess capacity should be turned immediately into essential civilian goods.

"Can I count on your help?" the union leader asked in a telegram he sent last night to WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson with a copy to Gen. Marshall.

Murray said he knows of at least 64 open hearth and electric steel furnaces now out of production with a total capacity of 87,000 tons weekly or enough steel for "seven 12,000-ton cruisers or 18 new victory ships."

Murray recalled that a promise for an all-time production record of more than 90 million tons in 1943 had been kept.

"There must be little 'psychological comfort' for the enemy in this amazing (production) record. When our bombers fly over Europe they drop steel-encased bombs and not psychology."

An official Yugoslav spokesman said 17 officers already have signed up, the dispatch added.

Bond sales during the drive. In the Third Loan campaign air raid wardens under leadership of Carlos P. Deemer conducted a house-to-house canvass of the city which was credited in large measure with putting East Liverpool "over the top".

The same program is planned this time. Mr. Deemer explained that while only 20 percent of his wardens volunteered for this duty, they succeeded in covering the city almost completely, raising more than half a million dollars. In the two months of September and October, "E" Bond sales through the city's two commercial banks and the postoffice totaled $599,820.

Meetings will he held next week to outline drive plans more in detail, Mr. White said. He announced these committee chairmen:

STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 4—Comeback tendencies were exhibited by many leading stocks in today's early market proceedings.

Up fractions at a quiet opening were American Telephone, Radio Corp., Goodyear, Sperry, Dome Mines, J. I. Case and American Distilling "Plain". Small declines were posted for General Motors and Westinghouse.

A prop for aircraft securities was found in the statement of the Douglas company disclosing a current backlog of war orders totaling $3,000,000,000 with this year's production scheduled at 86.4 percent above the record figures achieved in 1943. Other plane manufacturers are expected to show proportionate increases.

area, he added, "enemy air strength seems to be very weak and in such actions as have taken place the Japanese have been on the defensive."

He described as one of the most interesting actions in the area the New Year's day attack by an American carrier task force on Japanese ships off New Ireland.

Two enemy heavy cruisers were hit with 1,000-pound bombs and torpedoes and sunk or beached at Kavieng. In addition, two destroyers were bombed and strafed, one probably sinking and the other suffering severe damage.

Knox asserted the Germans "are imitating the Japanese" in making fantastic claims. He referred specifically to a Berlin broadcast which said 21 United Nations destroyers have been sunk by U-boats in the last 10 days.

On the contrary, he said, the only recent such sinking was that of a destroyer which was torpedoed in the Atlantic Dec. 24.

To a question about Japanese plane production, he replied that available information is "very sketchy".

ed a general "settling down" of the new officials in their jobs.

City Engineer Robert S. Wheatley, formerly of Salineville, joined the new official family today and Mr. Devon said he hopes Lawrence Bloor, safety-service director appointee, will be able to wind up his present business affairs in time to assume office next Monday, the official date.

If he cannot, then William Watkin, retiring director, will remain on the job until relieved, Mr. Devon said.

Loren W. Orr has begun his duties as street foreman, and Vincent J. McGeehan, pumping station foreman, said he plans to assume his duties next Monday.

Mr. Devon and some of his new appointees stressed that in all job changes, every effort will be made to avoid "rushing" the new office holders and to give the former administration's appointees an opportunity to look for other positions.

ident Kalinin. They drew and posted some childish but nevertheless unmistakably rude cartoons of the Gestapo and German teachers. They organized a meeting of children on a cliff overlooking the Kharkov zoo and audaciously sang the "Internationale".

Once they decorated the graves of the unknown Russian dead. A German soldier caught Valentina in the act and punished her with a slap in the face.

A Soviet official who heard of their deeds and brought the news back to Moscow said the girls still were getting out a paper when he met them and they bashfully tried to hide their ink-stained hands.

"Don't hide your hands, little girls," said the official from Moscow. "Everyone, even the general and Stalin himself, is going to shake them."

stein's rear-guards have appeared unable to check ever since their defeat in the battle of the Kiev bulge.

The Nazis, said the Russian communique, are surrendering by the hundreds and going "over to the side of the Red army" by entire companies.

Other spearheads of Vatutin's army are pushing toward the Rumanian border, more than 80 miles to the southwest. They slashed the Kazatin - Zhashkov and Kazatin-Uman railways serving the 500,000 Germans believed still in southern Russia.

Dispatches said these spearheads are within 35 miles of the main Warsaw-Odessa trunk railway and are driving for Vinnitsa, 22 miles to the southwest, and Zhmerinka, to seal off the German forces to their east.

On the Baltic front Gen. Ivan Bagramian's troops are reported within 45 miles of Latvia.

Truman Group Rejects Quiz

Green, recalling the New Year's eve statement that rail and steel strike threats may have delayed victory by giving Hitler's propagandists a telling talking point, said responsibility for the disputes "rests entirely upon bungling, fumbling and incompetent handling by government officials and agencies."

The Truman committee decided Monday not to undertake an investigation of the statement.

Chairman Truman (D) of Missouri said the committee's attention had been called to news reports that railroad union leaders were planning to ask an inquiry by the senate war investigating committee of the source of the charges.

"The members of the committee were unanimously of the opinion that this matter is outside our jurisdiction," Truman said.

Asked if he had any personal comment to make on the statement, Truman replied:

"All I can say is that I wish the spokesman had not made it."

So far as talk about steel strikes is concerned, Philip Murray, CIO president, said today at Pittsburgh that the industry now is turning out more than the war effort can use and the excess capacity should be turned immediately into essential civilian goods.

"Can I count on your help?" the union leader asked in a telegram he sent last night to WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson with a copy to Gen. Marshall.

Murray said he knows of at least 64 open hearth and electric steel furnaces now out of production with a total capacity of 87,000 tons weekly or enough steel for "seven 12,000-ton cruisers or 18 new victory ships."

Murray recalled that a promise for an all-time production record of more than 90 million tons in 1943 had been kept.

"There must be little 'psychological comfort' for the enemy in this amazing (production) record. When our bombers fly over Europe they drop steel-encased bombs and not psychology."

An official Yugoslav spokesman said 17 officers already have signed up, the dispatch added.

'Americanization Of World' To Be Forum Talk's Theme

"The Americanization of the World" has been chosen as the theme of the book reviews to be given here Jan. 13 by Rabbi George Lieberman of Wheeling, the second in the B'nai Israel Sisterhood's annual winter forum lecture series.

The theme will be developed and illustrated by Rabbi Lieberman's reviews of "Two-Way Passage" by Louis Adamic and "One World" by Wendell Willkie.

"Two-Way Passage" advances the theory that America must spread its democratic form to whichever sections of the world will take it up and advance it, declaring that such a "two-way" interchange of the democratic processes will offer a "positive dynamic alternative" to the totalitarianism which Europe has suffered.

The theme of Mr. Willkie's best-seller is perhaps better known to the public for in it Mr. Willkie sets forth his "internationalism" in terms which aroused stormy controversy among his political opponents when the book first appeared.

Rabbi Lieberman's lecture is expected to be one of the high points of the current season as he is known throughout the tri-state area as an outstanding book reviewer and critic.

Dr. Lieberman is the youngest man in the United States to hold the degree of Doctor of Literature. He was graduated from Western Reserve university and studied also at Harvard.

He was ordained to the rabbinate after the completion of his studies at the Hebrew union college in Cincinnati.

He is the rabbi of the historic Eoff Street temple in Wheeling and in 1940 was awarded the annual community civic award given to outstanding citizens in appreciation for his "spiritual leadership and inspiration."

Waldo Frank, authority on South America, was the first lecturer Nov. 4.

The series will be concluded with a round-table discussion Feb. 23 among Spencer D. Irwin, Cleveland Plain Dealer foreign affairs expert; Dorothy Fuldheim, former teacher and professional lecturer, and Prof. George Michaelides, an authority on the Near East.

How many more days, Mummy?

"Tell me. How many more days before Daddy can come home?"

And mother doesn't know. So she answers the same way she's answered a hundred times . . .

"Not so many days . . . we hope. Daddy can't come home to us until the war is over. Until we win, you know."

Nobody can tell the thousands of bewildered little hearts when their Daddies will come home.

Nor the millions of other Americans when their husbands, or sons, or sweethearts will be back.

The tragic truth is that many of them will never see their loved ones again. Never.

But this we do know . . .

Every minute by which the war can be shortened means fewer lives lost—fewer white crosses on a lonely hillside.

Your job is to put every dollar you can possibly dig up into War Bonds. The fighting equipment bought by your dollars will hasten the day of Victory . . . the day when the boys come marching home.

Don't slacken your Bond purchases while victory is within our grasp! Never let it be said that while the attack grows stronger on the fighting fronts, we at home failed to back it to the very limit of our ability.

Dig down deeper. Buy extra War Bonds. Help shorten the war by those vital minutes—or davs, or months—which mean American lives saved!

KEEP ON BACKING THE ATTACK!

How many more days, Mummy?

"Tell me. How many more days before Daddy can come home?"

And mother doesn't know. So she answers the same way she's answered a hundred times . . .

"Not so many days . . . we hope. Daddy can't come home to us until the war is over. Until we win, you know."

Nobody can tell the thousands of bewildered little hearts when their Daddies will come home.

Nor the millions of other Americans when their husbands, or sons, or sweethearts will be back.

The tragic truth is that many of them will never see their loved ones again. Never.

But this we do know . . .

Every minute by which the war can be shortened means fewer lives lost—fewer white crosses on a lonely hillside.

Your job is to put every dollar you can possibly dig up into War Bonds. The fighting equipment bought by your dollars will hasten the day of Victory . . . the day when the boys come marching home.

Don't slacken your Bond purchases while victory is within our grasp! Never let it be said that while the attack grows stronger on the fighting fronts, we at home failed to back it to the very limit of our ability.

Dig down deeper. Buy extra War Bonds. Help shorten the war by those vital minutes—or davs, or months—which mean American lives saved!

KEEP ON BACKING THE ATTACK!

A BOUQUET for the East End Parent Teachers association: . . .

The association has made the announcement that it will award gold footballs to 16 members of the East End grade school squad at a banquet Feb. 15 at the Travelers hotel.

And at the same fete the group will present Coach Ray Yanni a sweater. Yanni's assistant also will be presented a gift.

Co-champions of the City Grade School Football league last season, the East Enders also landed seven boys on the All-star team.

The East Enders captured the title each season for five years after the league was inaugurated in 1938 by Joe Morbito, former mentor of the Potters. Regis Scharf, now in the army, tutored the lads from the eastern section of the city to five straight crowns.

Hune's Vendors, running in the second place slot with Riverview Florists in the American Bowling league race, will take a trip to Beaver Falls Saturday night for a match with a team in that city.

The local team will be represented by Ralph Blackburn, Chick Stroubel, Harold Watson, Don Delaney and Jim Welch.

George W. Weed, chairman of the faculty athletic committee at The Peddie School, Hightstown, N. J., has announced that two local youths have been awarded letters for participation on the lightweight football team at the school last fall.

The boys are David Smith Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney C. Porter, and Richard B. Hedenquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hedenquist of 480 Orchard Grove ave.

PATRICK LEADS ILLINI TO WIN OVER BADGERS

CHICAGO, Jan. 4—Stan Patrick's 20 points, three of them donated in an overtime period, buoyed Illinois to a tight 45-to-43 victory over Wisconsin last night as the Big Ten conference basketball season opened.

Patrick, who won two letters at Santa Clara university before transferring to Illinois, scored 15 of his total points in the last half during a Badger uprising which dissolved the defending conference champions lead of 25-18 at halftime.

Meanwhile, Purdue suffered its second licking by Notre Dame this season and ran its losing string to four straight games as the Irish won at Lafayette last night, 35-32. Notre Dame also was forced to come from behind at halftime, trailing 25-19, to win. Bill Lodge, the Boilermakers' leading scorer of the season, was declared scholastically ineligible and did not play.

Tonight's schedule sends unbeaten Camp Grant against Dow Chemical at Midland, Mich., Chicago to Glenview, Ill., Air Base and Indiana to Camp Atterbury, Ind.

Jimmy Reeves Wins

CHICAGO, Jan. 4—Jimmy Reeves of Cleveland took an easy eight-round decision from James Fitzjames of Canton in a Marigold Gardens boxing match last night. Fitzjames, weighing 175, tired rapidly after the fourth round. Reeves weighed 171.

Harridge Says:

BASEBALL'S BIG PROBLEM IN '44 IS 'MANPOWER'

Confident Sport Will Meet Situation Successfully; Cites Season Of 1918

(This is the first of a series, written expressly for the Associated Press by sports leaders, in which prospects for 1944 are discussed.)

By WILLIAM HARRIDGE
(President Of American Baseball League)

CHICAGO, Jan. 4—Baseball's biggest problem, as the game approaches the 1944 season, is one of manpower—and I am confident the sport will meet this problem as successfully as it has met many others which developed in baseball's first two wartime seasons.

About 25 years ago, the game was preparing for another wartime season—that of 1918 during World War I. A check of the rosters at that time discloses that the eight American league clubs then had 250 players under contract—10 fewer than the league now has on its reserve lists for the 1944 season.

Many Will Join Service

We know that scores of players, many of them stars, will join the armed forces between now and opening day next April. But our league owners are confident that, despite these anticipated departures, their clubs will be able to field teams and again do a good job of providing entertainment and relaxation.

The American league now has approximately 190 of its players in the armed forces—and they are part of a legion which is baseball's biggest booster. During the 1942 and 1943 seasons, baseball went to our fighting men all over the world via radio and the American league motion pictures.

Only recently the newest American league movie—"The World Series of 1943" has gone to our boys in every theater of war.

In the near future, millions of boys will see the picturization of the 1943 fall classic between the New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals. From the demand for this new movie we know the soldiers, sailors and marines want baseball to go on.

600,000 Watched In '43

Some 600,000 of those servicemen watched our teams in 1943 as guests of our eight American league games—a total only slightly under a banner 1942 season attendance. The world series raised more than $308,000 for war charities.

Attendance in 1943 was all the more remarkable when it is remembered that the American league was not favored with a close pennant race and, during the early part of the season, incurred the worst stretch of inclement weather in the league's history.

Major league teams again will train at northern bases. This is just one of many wartime adjustments necessary—all of which are incidental to the game's only aim—keep baseball alive so long as it is in line with our country's only objective—the winning of this war.

Norman kings of England were the first to establish game preserves.

Ted Atkinson Reveals What Makes Good Jockey 'Click'

By FRED HAYDEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI, Jan. 4 — Ted Atkinson, jockey idol of New York and Miami, could not catch Johnny Adams in the National standings for 1943, but thin Theodore from Toronto just about stole the show anyway.

For months you've read about his averaging one or more winners per day, but perhaps you'd like to have the Canadian lightweight's ideas on what makes a rider click?

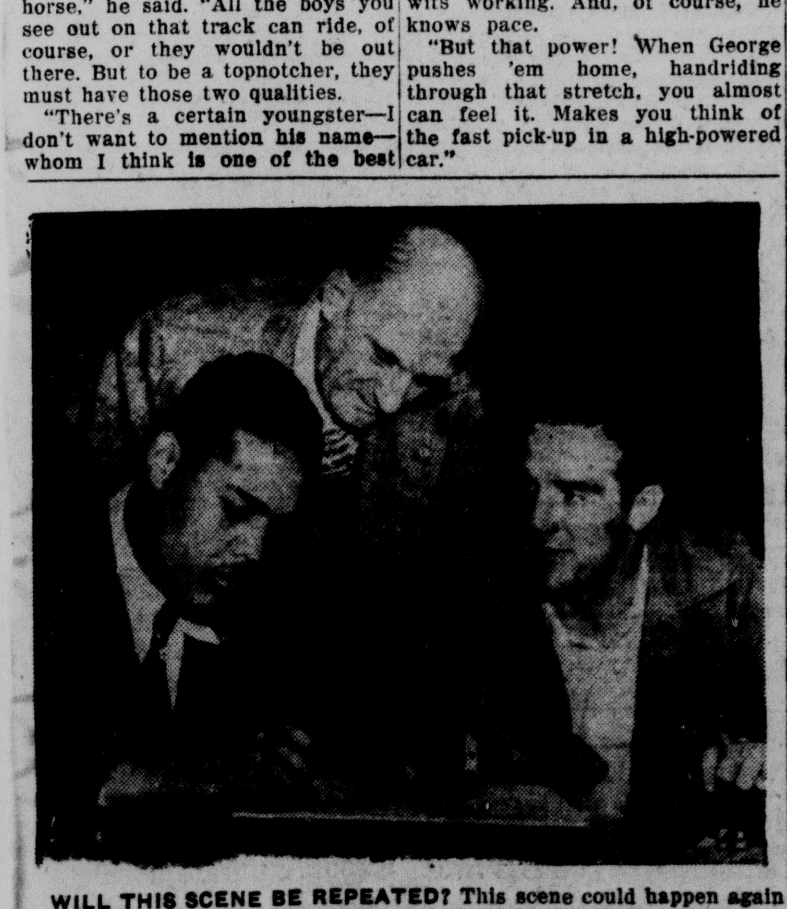
"I think the two outstanding requisites for a good jockey are, first—headwork, and second—having that indefinable something that enables him to get the run of a horse," he said. "All the boys you see out on that track can ride, of course, or they wouldn't be out there. But to be a topnotcher, they must have those two qualities.

"There's a certain youngster—I don't want to mention his name—whom I think is one of the best little riders in the country. But he doesn't win a lot of races, just seems unable to get all the run out of his mounts."

Ted, like so many other booters we've queried, considers George Woolf tops of 'em all. We asked Atkinson if it is because, as another rider told us, Woolf knows so many "tricks" on a horse.

"I wouldn't put it that way," replied Ted. "He's got what I've been talking about—the head, the ability to get the most out of his mounts and amazing power. What an appropriate nickname — 'The Iceman'! If he's bothered in a race, he doesn't lose his head, become angry or flustered. He keeps his wits working. And, of course, he knows pace.

"But that power! When George pushes 'em home, handriding through that stretch, you almost can feel it. Makes you think of the fast pick-up in a high-powered car."



WILL THIS SCENE BE REPEATED? This scene could happen again—in 1944—according to the word around Jacobs Beach (49th and Broadway, New York City, where the fight mob hangs its hat.) In case you've forgotten, that's Joe Louis, world's heavyweight champ, on the right. Of course the fellow in the middle couldn't be anyone else but Promoter Mike Jacobs. The last time the trio got together was in 1941 with Louis stopping Conn in the 13th after Billy had the better of the argument for 12 rounds.

Western Conference Basketball Campaign May Be Known As Season Of Great Upsets

Most Coaches See Purdue, Northwestern, Michigan Skirmishing For Title

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
AP Features

CHICAGO—The Western conference basketball campaign may become known as "the season of the great upsets."

Looking around for feasible championship contenders, most Big Ten coaches foresee Purdue, Michigan and Northwestern — teams blessed with lend-lease material—skirmishing for the crown.

The remainder of the schools, however, will do more than just look on. They will draw, for the most part, from a vast reservoir of freshmen—youngsters with loads of potential talent, which, if it blooms under the intensity of college competition, may provide more upsets than normally.

There is a jumble of ideas presented by the coaches on what may be expected during this unpredictable season. Contrasting predictions are best emphasized by Doug Mills, coach of the record-breaking "Whiz Kids" of Illinois, 1943 conference champions, and Coach Bennie Oosterbaan of Michigan.

"As in football," says Mills, "there will be a lot of changes in personnel during the season and the Big Ten race should be highly interesting. I'm convinced the 17-year-olds will give a surprisingly good account of themselves. Northwestern, Purdue and Michigan will be outstanding, while the civilian teams will be in about the same category."

"Schools with navy-marine programs may not enjoy the same superiority over civilian foes in basketball as they did in football," observes Oosterbaan. "It's simply because manpower is less a problem in the five-man sport."

Here's a bird's eye view at each Big Ten school:

Illinois — Among outstanding prospects are Stan Patrick, 6-1 forward from the University of Santa Clara; Don Delaney, 6-4 center from Detroit university, and seven flashy state high school rookies—Gordon Gillespie, Dick Foley, Bob White, Ray DeMoulin, Bof Morton, Don Sudkamp and Howard Judson. . . . All the "Whiz Kids" are in the armed forces. . . .

Michigan — A firm foundation made up of Dave Strack, 1942 regular; Dick Shrider, letterman transfer from Ohio State; Wayne Thompson, former Kalamazoo, Mich., college star, and John Leddy, member of Southern California's national title squad several seasons ago. . . . Among other prospects are Tom King and Tom Paton from Michigan State and Rex Wells, letter-winner at Idaho State. . . .

Northwestern—Four veterans, including Otto Graham, runnerup for the conference scoring honors the past two years, Ronnie Schumacher, 6-2 forward, George Felt, 6-4 center, and Nick Vodick, guard. . . . Seven sophomores support this cast along with Dave Thompson, a 6-7 center from Toledo, Ohio. . . .

Purdue—Three major lettermen—Center John Swantz and Jack Kennedy, and Guard Paul Friend—plus Forward Bill Lodge and Guard Charles Haag, members of Purdue's brilliant frosh team, make the framework which will be reinforced by V-12 transfers and yearlings. . . .

DOUG MILLS
Misses his 'Whiz Kids'.

Ohio State—Coach Harold G. Olsen's 22nd Buckeye team will be one of his tallest, averaging about 6-4 and hinged to Arnold Risen a 6-foot 8½-inch pivot man from Kentucky. . . .

Indiana—Except for Ed Scheinbein, a reserve forward last season, Indiana has an entire new squad as well as a new coach Harry C. Good, who for a decade produced top teams at Indiana Central college. . . .

Wisconsin—The team is formed around Ray Patterson, 6-3 center and a two-year letterman. . . . He was honorably discharged from the army. . . . "We have a good squad, one which may catch on as the season progresses," says Coach Harold "Bud" Foster.

Minnesota—Most promising 17-year-olds are Gordon Muske, 6-5 center from Wahpeton, N. D., and Duane Baglien, forward from Fargo, N. D. . . . Among 10 V-12 transfers are Forward Bill Wright and Guard Kenny Johnson, both with Carleton college (Minn.) last year.

Iowa—Without a veteran or even a holdover from last winter's freshman squad, Coach Lawrence "Pops" Harrison finds it hard rounding up enough men even to scrimmage. . . . Brightest nugget among nine freshmen is Jack Spencer, six-foot guard from Davenport, Ia.

Chicago — Kyle Anderson will send out a team averaging 6-2 to attempt to end the Maroons' losing streak which, until this season has stretched through 39 consecutive conference games. . . .

Sport Chatter

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 4—The subject hasn't been fully explored yet, but it's possible that baseball's post-war expansion program will help solve the most serious problem that will come up when the "planning" committee meets sometime within the next couple of weeks. That is what to do with athletes returning from the war. Already a dozen or more have been discharged and they'll be coming back with a rush once the fighting stops. Many of them won't be able to play big-league ball again, but if baseball does a lot of promoting in minor league, semi-pro, college and school territory there ought to be jobs for everybody. It looks like a "natural" for such men as Hank Greenberg, Luke Appling, Hugh Mulcahy and, of course, Zeke Bonura. Zeke might even promote a camel race between games of a double-header.

Mr. Fullerton

Saftey In Numbers.

Lowpoint High school in Illinois managed to play baseball last fall even though there are only eight boys in school. The boys wanted to play in their league and M. B. Neece, school principal and coach, was willing, so they just revised the rules to fit the conditions and went ahead to win five out of eight games. The same eight boys form the basketball team now and Coach Neece says, "They are one of the finest groups of boys I have ever had the pleasure of working with." And probably the most adaptable, too.

Sooners later.

Bennie Owen, intramural sports director and former football coach at Oklahoma U., saved up his card gas this fall for one good hunting trip. And Bennie really likes to hunt. He lost an arm in a shooting accident years ago but learned to handle a light shotgun with one arm and hasn't missed a season since. But this year, after that careful preparation, he reached the scene of the hunt and found he had left his gun at home. At that, Owen didn't fare any worse than Athletic Director Dale Arbuckle, who bagged his limit of quail one day only to discover when he reached home that he didn't have a feather to show. All the birds had dropped out through a hole in his hunting coat pocket.

The Camp Davis, N. C., basketball team has three veterans back from last season's undefeated outfit and they may not make the starting lineup. Two big reasons are Lt. Duttin Brookfield of Missouri and Pvt. Jim Krumtinger of Bradley Tech, a pair of 6-foot, 7-inch centers. After marine Pfc. Jim Bivin, former Phillies flinger, landed on Tarawa, he reported: "Those machine gun bullets whizzed past us a lot faster than the line drives I used to duck in the pitcher's box."

FRITZIE ZIVIC KAYOES HARRIS

Veteran Welterweight Wins Over City Foe In 10th

Special To The Review.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 4—Fritzie Zivic, the Mt. Lebanon beak-buster, scored a 10-round knockout over Ossie "Bulldog" Harris at The Gardens last night in the feature attraction on the first indoor boxing show staged by the Roofey-McGinley Co. this season.

The former welterweight king put over the finishing blow at 2.58, two seconds before the bout fight was over. A crowd of 4,269 watched the Pittsburgh rivals. Zivic weighed 152, Harris 155. It was the third time Zivic had beaten the fighting Negro.

Johnny Vorce, 178, of Detroit defeated Mose Brown, 176½ of McKeesport in a semi-final six-rounder; Bobby Simmons, 148½, of Indianapolis beat Jack Armitage, 150, of New Kensington in another six-rounder; Bob Maloney, 140, of Homestead took a unanimous decision over Mickey Austin, 146, of Detroit in the second four-rounder and Woody Sweeney, 137, of Lawrenceville stopped Kippy Dumas, 140, a Canadian soldier stationed at Camp Ipperwash, Ontario, after 1:47 of the third round in the opening four-rounder.

FARMER KILLS DEER —WITH SLIP OF AXE

By The Associated Press.

WINDSOR, N. C. — Farmer Bat Smallwood saved a short-gun shell (very scarce) by killing a deer with an axe.

It happened like this:

A hunting party took places at stands and put their dogs out to drive the deer past.

But the unpredictable deer, instead of coming by the stands, made straight for the woodpile where Smalwood was chopping wood, utterly obvious to the hunters.

The bounding deer frightened the wood-cutter so that he gave the axe a terrific fling. To his surprise, the axe felled the deer.

GEORGETOWN

The Christmas Eve marriage of Miss Eleanor Catherine Mayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mayer of Rockville Center, N. Y., to S/Sgt. Theodore J. Pryor, was announced today by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Pryor.

The ceremony was performed Dec. 24 at 7 p. m. in the Episcopal Church of Ascension, Rockville Center by Rev. S. S. Sherwood.

The bridal party approached the altar to the strains of the "Wedding March" from "Lohengrin". Miss Margaret Mayer, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and wore yellow chiffon with matching accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of talisman roses and sweet peas. Miss Augusta Wetzel, bride's maid, was attired in blue chiffon and carried pink roses and sweet peas. Mr. Phillip Hewitt, of Hookstown, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man, with William Wetzel, uncle of the bride, as usher.

Mrs. Mayer, mother of the bride wore pale blue crepe and a corsage of red roses, while Mrs. Pryor, mother of the bridegroom, wore navy blue crepe and pink roses.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was gowned in white flowered chiffon. Her finger tip veil of tulle was caught in place by a tiara of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of gardenias. She is a beautician and employed in Rockville Center.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Ohio Valley Business college and prior to his army service was employed in the Manhattan Bank, New York city. He is stationed at Camp Young, Indio, Calif.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents where 50 guests were received.

Sgt. Pryor has returned to his station and Mrs. Pryor will reside temporarily with her parents.

WELLS CAGERS OPPOSE STRONG BEAVER OUTFIT

Purple And Gold Stacks Up Against Rochester; Three Other Games Carded

Undefeated in four games, the Wells High cagers of Newell face a severe test tonight when they clash with a strong Beaver High quintet at Beaver in a dual-feature program that also highlights the Chester-Rochester attraction at Chester as three other district teams resume basketball warfare.

Coach Jack Mills' Lisbon Blue Devils, victorious in only one of four battles, face a stubborn opponent in Minerva on the Minerva court, while the Bulldogs of East Palestine, tripped three times in four starts, will be the decided underdogs in a tiff with a strong South High quint at Youngstown in the headliner of a double bill card there.

Midland Faces Zelienople

Coach Bill Walters' Midland Leopards, losers only to East Liverpool in three tilts, travel to Zelienople where the Lincoln High cagemen will be favored to down the home team.

The Big Green flippers, featuring the "scoring twins", Red Miller and Bob McDevitt, will be put to their stiffest test of the young campaign when the Beavers, reputed to be the strongest in the Beaver valley, are encountered in the Pennsylvania city.

Coach John Robinson's proteges, however, are right at home, it seems, on their opponent's floors, having came through three of their triumphs on foreign boards.

Tuttle Expects Trouble

The Rams of Rochester, according to their press notices, aren't as tough this season as past Rochester fives, having dropped a verdict to New Brighton. However, Coach Max Tuttle of the Purple and Gold cagers is expecting "plenty of trouble" for his inexperienced charges, who last week won their first game in three starts.

The varsity attraction at Chester will get under way at about 8:30, with the preliminary starting at 7:30.

GOOD SHOOTING COMES EASY FOR KENTUCKIAN

By The Associated Press.

NORTH CAMP POLK, La.—Pvt. Thomas Brown of the 8th armored division has told his new pals here that marksmanship was right down his alley because he came from the Kentucky long-rifle country.

Came the day when officers put him on the range with a rifle long enough to satisfy the fussiest Kentuckian. A 37mm. gun and the target was set up a good 500 yards away.

The 19-year-old Oakdale, Ky., soldier scored 10 bull's-eyes in exactly 10 shots. He didn't appear the least bit surprised.

TALL STORY; CATCHES SAME 30 FISH TWICE

By The Associated Press.

LAKE CHARLES, La. — "Pap" Guidry, veteran fisherman of these parts, spent an entire day in an uncertain needle-shaped skiff under a broiling sun; his reward was a glittering string of some 30 perch.

But around sundown the whole string got away when the knot tying the fish to the stern of the boat slipped loose. Guidry cussed some and disgustedly tossed his fishing line into the water and 15 minutes later caught the same 30 perch.

"Actually," he says, "I just hooked one. But the rest were still tied to him."

GRID KICKOFF FEELING 'SIMILAR TO FIGHTING'

By The Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va.—That sinking feeling which football players feel at the kickoff is also felt in battle, but there's a difference, says Lt. (jg) Theodore Frank Brown, former Hampden Sydney tackle.

"The difference is that the feeling disappears as soon as body contact is established in the game, but it continues until the last shot is fired in warfare," says Brown.

HERSHEY, CLEVELAND STARS LEAD SCORERS

By The Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 4 — If anybody wants to know why Hershey and Cleveland are leading their divisions of the American hockey league, the circuit's scoring record provides probably the best reason.

Hershey, tops in the Eastern sector, and Cleveland, pace-setters in the Western division, each have five players among the 13 leading scorers. And Wally Kilrea, who heads the list with 39 points, and runner-up Gaston Gauthier, with 36, are members of the Hershey club.

Tom Burlington and Lou Trudel of Cleveland provided most fireworks in the scoring department during the past week, however, each tallying seven points.

A BOUQUET for the East End Parent Teachers association: . . .

The association has made the announcement that it will award gold footballs to 16 members of the East End grade school squad at a banquet Feb. 15 at the Travelers hotel.

And at the same fete the group will present Coach Ray Yanni a sweater. Yanni's assistant also will be presented a gift.

Co-champions of the City Grade School Football league last season, the East Enders also landed seven boys on the All-star team.

The East Enders captured the title each season for five years after the league was inaugurated in 1938 by Joe Morbito, former mentor of the Potters. Regis Scharf, now in the army, tutored the lads from the eastern section of the city to five straight crowns.

Hune's Vendors, running in the second place slot with Riverview Florists in the American Bowling league race, will take a trip to Beaver Falls Saturday night for a match with a team in that city.

The local team will be represented by Ralph Blackburn, Chick Stroubel, Harold Watson, Don Delaney and Jim Welch.

George W. Weed, chairman of the faculty athletic committee at The Peddie School, Hightstown, N. J., has announced that two local youths have been awarded letters for participation on the lightweight football team at the school last fall.

The boys are David Smith Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney C. Porter, and Richard B. Hedenquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hedenquist of 480 Orchard Grove ave.

PATRICK LEADS ILLINI TO WIN OVER BADGERS

CHICAGO, Jan. 4—Stan Patrick's 20 points, three of them donated in an overtime period, buoyed Illinois to a tight 45-to-43 victory over Wisconsin last night as the Big Ten conference basketball season opened.

Patrick, who won two letters at Santa Clara university before transferring to Illinois, scored 15 of his total points in the last half during a Badger uprising which dissolved the defending conference champions lead of 25-18 at halftime.

Meanwhile, Purdue suffered its second licking by Notre Dame this season and ran its losing string to four straight games as the Irish won at Lafayette last night, 35-32. Notre Dame also was forced to come from behind at halftime, trailing 25-19, to win. Bill Lodge, the Boilermakers' leading scorer of the season, was declared scholastically ineligible and did not play.

Tonight's schedule sends unbeaten Camp Grant against Dow Chemical at Midland, Mich., Chicago to Glenview, Ill., Air Base and Indiana to Camp Atterbury, Ind.

Jimmy Reeves Wins

CHICAGO, Jan. 4—Jimmy Reeves of Cleveland took an easy eight-round decision from James Fitzjames of Canton in a Marigold Gardens boxing match last night. Fitzjames, weighing 175, tired rapidly after the fourth round. Reeves weighed 171.

Harridge Says:

BASEBALL'S BIG PROBLEM IN '44 IS 'MANPOWER'

Confident Sport Will Meet Situation Successfully; Cites Season Of 1918

(This is the first of a series, written expressly for the Associated Press by sports leaders, in which prospects for 1944 are discussed.)

By WILLIAM HARRIDGE
(President Of American Baseball League)

CHICAGO, Jan. 4—Baseball's biggest problem, as the game approaches the 1944 season, is one of manpower—and I am confident the sport will meet this problem as successfully as it has met many others which developed in baseball's first two wartime seasons.

About 25 years ago, the game was preparing for another wartime season—that of 1918 during World War I. A check of the rosters at that time discloses that the eight American league clubs then had 250 players under contract—10 fewer than the league now has on its reserve lists for the 1944 season.

Many Will Join Service

We know that scores of players, many of them stars, will join the armed forces between now and opening day next April. But our league owners are confident that, despite these anticipated departures, their clubs will be able to field teams and again do a good job of providing entertainment and relaxation.

The American league now has approximately 190 of its players in the armed forces—and they are part of a legion which is baseball's biggest booster. During the 1942 and 1943 seasons, baseball went to our fighting men all over the world via radio and the American league motion pictures.

Only recently the newest American league movie—"The World Series of 1943" has gone to our boys in every theater of war.

In the near future, millions of boys will see the picturization of the 1943 fall classic between the New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals. From the demand for this new movie we know the soldiers, sailors and marines want baseball to go on.

600,000 Watched In '43

Some 600,000 of those servicemen watched our teams in 1943 as guests of our eight American league games—a total only slightly under a banner 1942 season attendance. The world series raised more than $308,000 for war charities.

Attendance in 1943 was all the more remarkable when it is remembered that the American league was not favored with a close pennant race and, during the early part of the season, incurred the worst stretch of inclement weather in the league's history.

Major league teams again will train at northern bases. This is just one of many wartime adjustments necessary—all of which are incidental to the game's only aim—keep baseball alive so long as it is in line with our country's only objective—the winning of this war.

Norman kings of England were the first to establish game preserves.

Ted Atkinson Reveals What Makes Good Jockey 'Click'

By FRED HAYDEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI, Jan. 4 — Ted Atkinson, jockey idol of New York and Miami, could not catch Johnny Adams in the National standings for 1943, but thin Theodore from Toronto just about stole the show anyway.

For months you've read about his averaging one or more winners per day, but perhaps you'd like to have the Canadian lightweight's ideas on what makes a rider click?

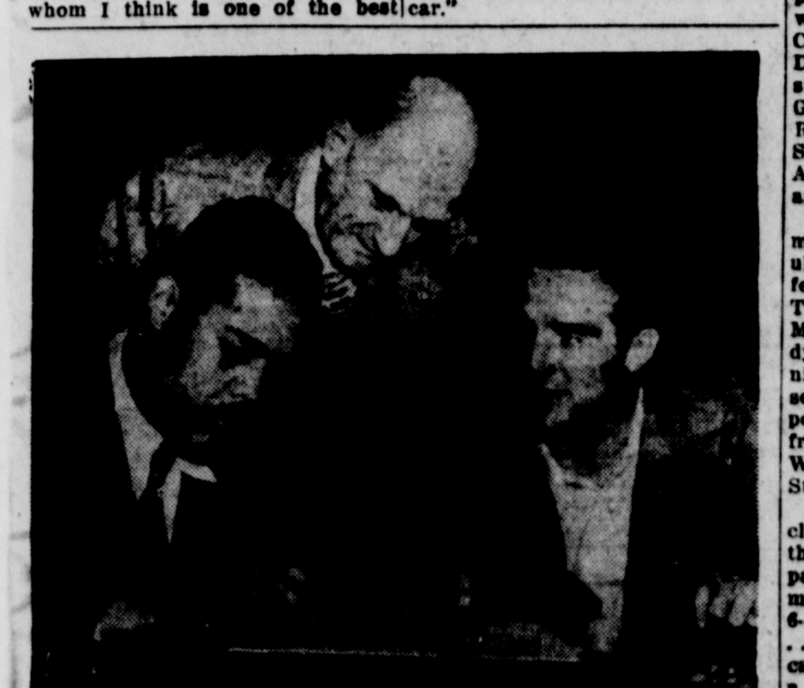
"I think the two outstanding requisites for a good jockey are, first—headwork, and second—having that indefinable something that enables him to get the run of a horse," he said. "All the boys you see out on that track can ride, of course, or they wouldn't be out there. But to be a topnotcher, they must have those two qualities.

"There's a certain youngster—I don't want to mention his name—whom I think is one of the best little riders in the country. But he doesn't win a lot of races, just seems unable to get all the run out of his mounts."

Ted, like so many other booters we've queried, considers George Woolf tops of 'em all. We asked Atkinson if it is because, as another rider told us, Woolf knows so many "tricks" on a horse.

"I wouldn't put it that way," replied Ted. "He's got what I've been talking about—the head, the ability to get the most out of his mounts and amazing power. What an appropriate nickname — 'The Iceman'! If he's bothered in a race, he doesn't lose his head, become angry or flustered. He keeps his wits working. And, of course, he knows pace.

"But that power! When George pushes 'em home, handriding through that stretch, you almost can feel it. Makes you think of the fast pick-up in a high-powered car."



WILL THIS SCENE BE REPEATED? This scene could happen again—in 1944—according to the word around Jacobs Beach (49th and Broadway, New York City, where the fight mob hangs its hat.) In case you've forgotten, that's Joe Louis, world's heavyweight champ, on the right. Of course the fellow in the middle couldn't be anyone else but Promoter Mike Jacobs. The last time the trio got together was in 1941 with Louis stopping Conn in the 13th after Billy had the better of the argument for 12 rounds.

Western Conference Basketball Campaign May Be Known As Season Of Great Upsets

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
AP Features

CHICAGO—The Western conference basketball campaign may become known as "the season of the great upsets."

Looking around for feasible championship contenders, most Big Ten coaches foresee Purdue, Michigan and Northwestern — teams blessed with lend-lease material—skirmishing for the crown.

The remainder of the schools, however, will do more than just look on. They will draw, for the most part, from a vast reservoir of freshmen—youngsters with loads of potential talent, which, if it blooms under the intensity of college competition, may provide more upsets than normally.

There is a jumble of ideas presented by the coaches on what may be expected during this unpredictable season. Contrasting predictions are best emphasized by Doug Mills, coach of the record-breaking "Whiz Kids" of Illinois, 1943 conference champions, and Coach Bennie Oosterbaan of Michigan.

"As in football," says Mills, "there will be a lot of changes in personnel during the season and the Big Ten race should be highly interesting. I'm convinced the 17-year-olds will give a surprisingly good account of themselves. Northwestern, Purdue and Michigan will be outstanding, while the civilian teams will be in about the same category."

"Schools with navy-marine programs may not enjoy the same superiority over civilian foes in basketball as they did in football," observes Oosterbaan. "It's simply because manpower is less a problem in the five-man sport."

Here's a bird's eye view at each Big Ten school:

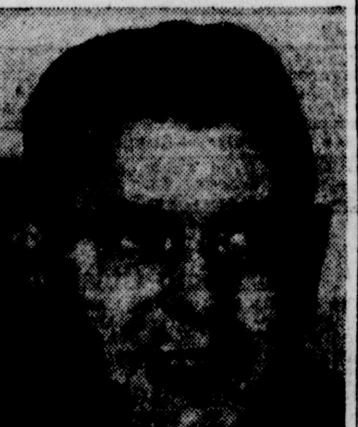
Illinois — Among outstanding prospects are Stan Patrick, 6-1 forward from the University of Santa Clara; Don Delaney, 6-4 center from Detroit university, and seven flashy state high school rookies—Gordon Gillespie, Dick Foley, Bob White, Ray DeMoulin, Bof Morton, Don Sudkamp and Howard Judson. . . . All the "Whiz Kids" are in the armed forces. . . .

Michigan — A firm foundation made up of Dave Strack, 1942 regular; Dick Shrider, letterman transfer from Ohio State; Wayne Thompson, former Kalamazoo, Mich., college star, and John Leddy, member of Southern California's national title squad several seasons ago. . . . Among other prospects are Tom King and Tom Paton from Michigan State and Rex Wells, letter-winner at Idaho State. . . .

Northwestern—Four veterans, including Otto Graham, runnerup for the conference scoring honors the past two years, Ronnie Schumacher, 6-2 forward, George Felt, 6-4 center, and Nick Vodick, guard. . . . Seven sophomores support this cast along with Dave Thompson, a 6-7 center from Toledo, Ohio. . . .

Purdue—Three major lettermen—Center John Swantz and Jack Kennedy, and Guard Paul Friend—plus Forward Bill Lodge and Guard Charles Haag, members of Purdue's brilliant frosh team, make the framework which will be reinforced by V-12 transfers and yearlings. . . .

Ohio State—Coach Harold G. Olsen's 22nd Buckeye team will be one of his tallest, averaging about 6-4 and hinged to Arnold Risen a 6-foot 8½-inch pivot man from Kentucky. . . .



DOUG MILLS
Misses his 'Whiz Kids'.

Indiana—Except for Ed Scheinbein, a reserve forward last season, Indiana has an entire new squad as well as a new coach Harry C. Good, who for a decade produced top teams at Indiana Central college. . . .

Wisconsin—The team is formed around Ray Patterson, 6-3 center and a two-year letterman. . . . He was honorably discharged from the army. . . . "We have a good squad, one which may catch on as the season progresses," says Coach Harold "Bud" Foster.

Minnesota—Most promising 17-year-olds are Gordon Muske, 6-5 center from Wahpeton, N. D., and Duane Baglien, forward from Fargo, N. D. . . . Among 10 V-12 transfers are Forward Bill Wright and Guard Kenny Johnson, both with Carleton college (Minn.) last year.

Iowa—Without a veteran or even a holdover from last winter's freshman squad, Coach Lawrence "Pops" Harrison finds it hard rounding up enough men even to scrimmage. . . . Brightest nugget among nine freshmen is Jack Spencer, six-foot guard from Davenport, Ia.

Chicago — Kyle Anderson will send out a team averaging 6-2 to attempt to end the Maroons' losing streak which, until this season has stretched through 39 consecutive conference games. . . .

Sport Chatter

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 4—The subject hasn't been fully explored yet, but it's possible that baseball's post-war expansion program will help solve the most serious problem that will come up when the "planning" committee meets sometime within the next couple of weeks. That is what to do with athletes returning from the war. Already a dozen or more have been discharged and they'll be coming back with a rush once the fighting stops. Many of them won't be able to play big-league ball again, but if baseball does a lot of promoting in minor league, semi-pro, college and school territory there ought to be jobs for everybody. It looks like a "natural" for such men as Hank Greenberg, Luke Appling, Hugh Mulcahy and, of course, Zeke Bonura. Zeke might even promote a camel race between games of a double-header.

Mr. Fullerton

Saftey In Numbers.

Lowpoint High school in Illinois managed to play baseball last fall even though there are only eight boys in school. The boys wanted to play in their league and M. B. Neece, school principal and coach, was willing, so they just revised the rules to fit the conditions and went ahead to win five out of eight games. The same eight boys form the basketball team now and Coach Neece says, "They are one of the finest groups of boys I have ever had the pleasure of working with." And probably the most adaptable, too.

Sooners later.

Bennie Owen, intramural sports director and former football coach at Oklahoma U., saved up his card gas this fall for one good hunting trip. And Bennie really likes to hunt. He lost an arm in a shooting accident years ago but learned to handle a light shotgun with one arm and hasn't missed a season since. But this year, after that careful preparation, he reached the scene of the hunt and found he had left his gun at home. At that, Owen didn't fare any worse than Athletic Director Dale Arbuckle, who bagged his limit of quail one day only to discover when he reached home that he didn't have a feather to show. All the birds had dropped out through a hole in his hunting coat pocket.

The Camp Davis, N. C., basketball team has three veterans back from last season's undefeated outfit and they may not make the starting lineup. Two big reasons are Lt. Duttin Brookfield of Missouri and Pvt. Jim Krumtinger of Bradley Tech, a pair of 6-foot, 7-inch centers. After marine Pfc. Jim Bivin, former Phillies flinger, landed on Tarawa, he reported: "Those machine gun bullets whizzed past us a lot faster than the line drives I used to duck in the pitcher's box."

FRITZIE ZIVIC KAYOES HARRIS

Special To The Review.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 4—Fritzie Zivic, the Mt. Lebanon beak-buster, scored a 10-round knockout over Ossie "Bulldog" Harris at The Gardens last night in the feature attraction on the first indoor boxing show staged by the Roofey-McGinley Co. this season.

The former welterweight king put over the finishing blow at 2.58, two seconds before the bout fight was over. A crowd of 4,269 watched the Pittsburgh rivals. Zivic weighed 152, Harris 155. It was the third time Zivic had beaten the fighting Negro.

Johnny Vorce, 178, of Detroit defeated Mose Brown, 176½ of McKeesport in a semi-final six-rounder; Bobby Simmons, 148½, of Indianapolis beat Jack Armitage, 150, of New Kensington in another six-rounder; Bob Maloney, 140, of Homestead took a unanimous decision over Mickey Austin, 146, of Detroit in the second four-rounder and Woody Sweeney, 137, of Lawrenceville stopped Kippy Dumas, 140, a Canadian soldier stationed at Camp Ipperwash, Ontario, after 1:47 of the third round in the opening four-rounder.

FARMER KILLS DEER —WITH SLIP OF AXE

By The Associated Press.

WINDSOR, N. C. — Farmer Bat Smallwood saved a shotgun shell (very scarce) by killing a deer with an axe.

It happened like this:

A hunting party took places at stands and put their dogs out to drive the deer past.

But the unpredictable deer, instead of coming by the stands, made straight for the woodpile where Smalwood was chopping wood, utterly obvious to the hunters.

The bounding deer frightened the wood-cutter so that he gave the axe a terrific fling. To his surprise, the axe felled the deer.

GEORGETOWN

The Christmas Eve marriage of Miss Eleanor Catherine Mayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mayer of Rockville Center, N. Y., to S/Sgt. Theodore J. Pryor, was announced today by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Pryor.

The ceremony was performed Dec. 24 at 7 p. m. in the Episcopal Church of Ascension, Rockville Center by Rev. S. S. Sherwood.

The bridal party approached the altar to the strains of the "Wedding March" from "Lohengrin". Miss Margaret Mayer, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and wore yellow chiffon with matching accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of talisman roses and sweet peas. Miss Augusta Wetzel, bride's maid, was attired in blue chiffon and carried pink roses and sweet peas. Mr. Phillip Hewitt, of Hookstown, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man, with William Wetzel, uncle of the bride, as usher.

Mrs. Mayer, mother of the bride wore pale blue crepe and a corsage of red roses, while Mrs. Pryor, mother of the bridegroom, wore navy blue crepe and pink roses.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was gowned in white flowered chiffon. Her finger tip veil of tulle was caught in place by a tiara of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of gardenias. She is a beautician and employed in Rockville Center.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Ohio Valley Business college and prior to his army service was employed in the Manhattan Bank, New York city. He is stationed at Camp Young, Indio, Calif.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents where 50 guests were received.

Sgt. Pryor has returned to his station and Mrs. Pryor will reside temporarily with her parents.

WELLS CAGERS OPPOSE STRONG BEAVER OUTFIT

Purple And Gold Stacks Up Against Rochester; Three Other Games Carded

Undefeated in four games, the Wells High cagers of Newell face a severe test tonight when they clash with a strong Beaver High quintet at Beaver in a dual-feature program that also highlights the Chester-Rochester attraction at Chester as three other district teams resume basketball warfare.

Coach Jack Mills' Lisbon Blue Devils, victorious in only one of four battles, face a stubborn opponent in Minerva on the Minerva court, while the Bulldogs of East Palestine, tripped three times in four starts, will be the decided underdogs in a tiff with a strong South High quint at Youngstown in the headliner of a double bill card there.

Midland Faces Zellenople

Coach Bill Walters' Midland Leopards, losers only to East Liverpool in three tilts, travel to Zelienople where the Lincoln High cagemen will be favored to down the home team.

The Big Green flippers, featuring the "scoring twins", Red Miller and Bob McDevitt, will be put to their stiffest test of the young campaign when the Beavers, reputed to be the strongest in the Beaver valley, are encountered in the Pennsylvania city.

Coach John Robinson's proteges, however, are right at home, it seems, on their opponent's floors, having came through three of their triumphs on foreign boards.

Tuttle Expects Trouble

The Rams of Rochester, according to their press notices, aren't as tough this season as past Rochester fives, having dropped a verdict to New Brighton. However, Coach Max Tuttle of the Purple and Gold cagers is expecting "plenty of trouble" for his inexperienced charges, who last week won their first game in three starts.

The varsity attraction at Chester will get under way at about 8:30, with the preliminary starting at 7:30.

GOOD SHOOTING COMES EASY FOR KENTUCKIAN

By The Associated Press.

NORTH CAMP POLK, La.—Pvt. Thomas Brown of the 8th armored division has told his new pals here that marksmanship was right down his alley because he came from the Kentucky long-rifle country.

Came the day when officers put him on the range with a rifle long enough to satisfy the fussiest Kentuckian. A 37mm. gun and the target was set up a good 500 yards away.

The 19-year-old Oakdale, Ky., soldier scored 10 bull's-eyes in exactly 10 shots. He didn't appear the least bit surprised.

TALL STORY; CATCHES SAME 30 FISH TWICE

By The Associated Press.

LAKE CHARLES, La. — "Pap" Guidry, veteran fisherman of these parts, spent an entire day in an uncertain needle-shaped skiff under a broiling sun; his reward was a glittering string of some 30 perch.

But around sundown the whole string got away when the knot tying the fish to the stern of the boat slipped loose. Guidry cussed some and disgustedly tossed his fishing line into the water and 15 minutes later caught the same 30 perch.

"Actually," he says, "I just hooked one. But the rest were still tied to him."

GRID KICKOFF FEELING 'SIMILAR TO FIGHTING'

By The Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va.—That sinking feeling which football players feel at the kickoff is also felt in battle, but there's a difference, says Lt. (jg) Theodore Frank Brown, former Hampden Sydney tackle.

"The difference is that the feeling disappears as soon as body contact is established in the game, but it continues until the last shot is fired in warfare," says Brown.

HERSHEY, CLEVELAND STARS LEAD SCORERS

By The Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 4 — If anybody wants to know why Hershey and Cleveland are leading their divisions of the American hockey league, the circuit's scoring record provides probably the best reason.

Hershey, tops in the Eastern sector, and Cleveland, pace-setters in the Western division, each have five players among the 13 leading scorers. And Wally Kilrea, who heads the list with 39 points, and runner-up Gaston Gauthier, with 36, are members of the Hershey club.

Tom Burlington and Lou Trudel of Cleveland provided most fireworks in the scoring department during the past week, however, each tallying seven points.

Solution Of Yesterday's Puzzle

Big Town Medley

By Jack Gaver

Three Okies Defeat Dust Storms

NEW YORK—The Cinderella story has come true in triplicate for the Ross Sisters, pretty acrobats and singers who only four years ago were following the crops in the western states after being driven from their Saliras, Tex., farm by dust storms.

The girls—Betsy, Vicki and Dixie—and their father and mother jockeyed the crops around the Okie circuit for five years until they met up with the future in a trailer bivouac at Hobbs, N. M.

There they found a family named Edwards camped alongside and the girls were greatly taken with the fact that the Edwards kids could do acrobatics. They wanted to learn, too, and Edwards took them under his wing and taught them the rudiments of the trade.

Late in 1938 Edwards decided to take his daughter, June, to Hollywood for a try at the movies or night clubs and Mrs. Ross and her daughters decided to go along on the same chance, with Ross following later. The Hollywood experience was what you might expect in the circumstances—no luck.

The Ross-Edwards combination split their meager funds and finally went their separate ways. Mrs. Ross developed a stubborn streak and refused to contemplate going back to farming, believing that her daughters could be performers.

The family motored to towns and hamlets and the girls gave impromptu entertainments wherever they could, taking their pay in whatever nickels, dimes or quarters onlookers might care to drop in the hat.

Finally they worked their way to the east, grabbed a decent vaudeville booking or two and were hired by Billy Rose for his Diamond Horseshoe club. Last year the girls returned to Hollywood, this time by invitation, and appeared in M.G.M.'s "Broadway Rhythm". They came back to the Horseshoe, where they still are working, but next year they will trek west again for further picture work. They are lined up for four films so far.

Oddly enough the girls have found an old friend in New York—June Edwards, who does an amazing acrobatic dance turn in the Ted Lewis show at the Hurricane.

And one night after coming to New York they had a surprise visit from a man who had seen their act and recalled that he had interviewed them in Southern California when he was getting material for a novel about the Okies.

He reminded them that he was John Steinbeck and that out of his firsthand research had come "The Grapes of Wrath".

Worries In Triplicate

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK—The twin worries, claustrophobia, the fear of closed spaces, and agoraphobia, the fear of time.

Chronophobia is described by Dr. Salvatore Russo, psychologist at Rider college, Trenton, N. J., as he saw it while psychologist at Auburn prison, New York.

ANOTHER ONE ??

He says it is possible that chronophobia occurs also in the army, navy, in concentration camps and among shipwrecked persons.

In prison it is not uncommon, he says, but has never been diagnosed and treated as one of the psychoneuroses. A prisoner gave him this description of the feeling:

"The weight of time. Thicker than the darkness of night, heavier than the walls of stone. So thick it could not be cut by light or penetrated by rays of thought.

"I awoke and my cell was filled with time. It seemed to have body and weight. It was like a monster grasping my throat. I gasped for breath. I grasped the bars of my cell and shook them frantically, pressing my checks between them. The bars were soft and soothing, and soon my fear was quieted."

About New Books

By John Selby

New Navy Story Is 'All Action'

"CONDITION RED," by Capt. Frederick J. Bell, U.S.N.

A LOT of action, and a lot of history are to be found in Capt. Frederick J. Bell's "Condition Red." It may be a lucky book for him, too, because it's publication and his promotion from commander to his new rank were almost coincidental.

"Condition Red" is also a fine book, perhaps the best action story to come out of the navy in this war. It is a difficult book to describe, and to provide even a cursory synopsis is impossible, for there is too much in the book that does not fit easily into some body else's sentences.

Captain Bell was in the western Pacific, specifically in Philippine waters, when things boiled up with Japan. He served first on the Boise, and went through the heartbreaking period when that grand ship was kept out of action by hard luck.

But when the Boise was returned to the west coast for repairs, Captain Bell was given command of a destroyer, which was exactly what he wanted. From that time until his recent relief he cruised the Southwest Pacific, never out of danger and almost never free of fatigue. His ship went months beyond the usual period of service without overhaul, and was kept going, at times, chiefly by will power and the guts of sailors. Finally, Bell had the satisfaction of being on hand when our side began to win.

"Condition Red" is the story of all the things that happened—sometimes told in straight narrative, sometimes by quotations from the captain's diary (after a while, sailors were forbidden the luxury of diaries), sometimes in excerpts from the Fantail Gazette, the only daily published on a United States destroyer. It is full of brilliant exploits, such as the salvage of the Verity at Guadalcanal, told modestly.

And of intimate detail about sailors and their lives, their thoughts, their hell-raising. I have never read a naval officer as generous to the enlisted man, or as understanding. Such a man as Wesley H. Singletary, from Georgia, who singlehanded held together several raftloads of shattered men, jumping into the water to kick sharks away, comes to life in Bell's narrative. If I were a gob again, I'd go to hell for a commander like Bell.

Big Town Medley

Three Okies Defeat Dust Storms

NEW YORK—The Cinderella story has come true in triplicate for the Ross Sisters, pretty acrobats and singers who only four years ago were following the crops in the western states after being driven from their Saliras, Tex., farm by dust storms.

The girls—Betsy, Vicki and Dixie—and their father and mother jockeyed the crops around the Okie circuit for five years until they met up with the future in a trailer bivouac at Hobbs, N. M.

There they found a family named Edwards camped alongside and the girls were greatly taken with the fact that the Edwards kids could do acrobatics. They wanted to learn, too, and Edwards took them under his wing and taught them the rudiments of the trade.

Late in 1938 Edwards decided to take his daughter, June, to Hollywood for a try at the movies or night clubs and Mrs. Ross and her daughters decided to go along on the same chance, with Ross following later. The Hollywood experience was what you might expect in the circumstances—no luck.

The Ross-Edwards combination split their meager funds and finally went their separate ways. Mrs. Ross developed a stubborn streak and refused to contemplate going back to farming, believing that her daughters could be performers.

The family motored to towns and hamlets and the girls gave impromptu entertainments wherever they could, taking their pay in whatever nickels, dimes or quarters onlookers might care to drop in the hat.

Finally they worked their way to the east, grabbed a decent vaudeville booking or two and were hired by Billy Rose for his Diamond Horseshoe club. Last year the girls returned to Hollywood, this time by invitation, and appeared in M.G.M.'s "Broadway Rhythm". They came back to the Horseshoe, where they still are working, but next year they will trek west again for further picture work. They are lined up for four films so far.

Oddly enough the girls have found an old friend in New York—June Edwards, who does an amazing acrobatic dance turn in the Ted Lewis show at the Hurricane.

And one night after coming to New York they had a surprise visit from a man who had seen their act and recalled that he had interviewed them in Southern California when he was getting material for a novel about the Okies.

He reminded them that he was John Steinbeck and that out of his firsthand research had come "The Grapes of Wrath".

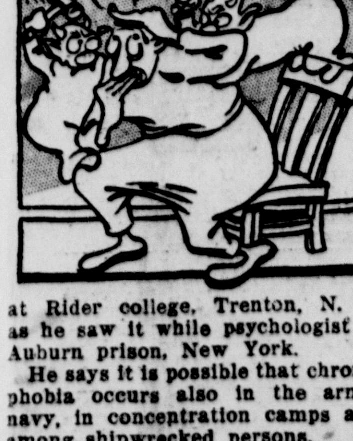
Worries In Triplicate

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK—The twin worries, claustrophobia, the fear of closed spaces, and agoraphobia, the fear of time.

Chronophobia is described by Dr. Salvatore Russo, psychologist at Rider college, Trenton, N. J., as he saw it while psychologist at Auburn prison, New York.



ANOTHER ONE ??

He says it is possible that chronophobia occurs also in the army, navy, in concentration camps and among shipwrecked persons.

In prison it is not uncommon, he says, but has never been diagnosed and treated as one of the psychoneuroses. A prisoner gave him this description of the feeling:

"The weight of time. Thicker than the darkness of night, heavier than the walls of stone. So thick it could not be cut by light or penetrated by rays of thought.

"I awoke and my cell was filled with time. It seemed to have body and weight. It was like a monster grasping my throat. I gasped for breath. I grasped the bars of my cell and shook them frantically, pressing my checks between them. The bars were soft and soothing, and soon my fear was quieted."

Living In Wartime: OPA Struggles To Formulate A Permanent Price Program

New Non-Highway Gas Form Received

A new non-highway gasoline application form, aimed primarily at rural non-highway users, has been received by the East Liverpool ration board and will be distributed immediately.

The new form, R-537 revised, requires a more detailed explanation of the use to which the gas is being put, including the number of hours the farm machinery is run per day and how many acres are being worked with the machinery.

Other commercial non-highway users also must fill out the new forms but need add little new information not requested on the old forms.

Rayon Hosiery Ceilings Revised In New OPA Move

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — The branded or trade name lines of women's full-fashioned rayon hosiery were given a separate set of ceiling prices Monday, boosting the prescribed price of the most generally sold type 4 cents a pair and lowering it varying amounts for fancy mesh construction and irregular stocks.

Full-fashioned hosiery is hosiery tailored to fit the ankles and calves.

Manufacturers and wholesalers are to begin charging the new prices Jan. 15, but retailers were given until April 16 to dispose of, at current prices, the rayon hosiery they now have in stock.

Children's Clothing Shortage Protested

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — The needle and thread brigade let out a holler today that: There's not enough clothing around to keep the children warm and what there is, isn't good enough to make sewing repairs worth while.

The protest was voiced through the American Home Economics association by housewives interviewed by the association in 25 states. The survey indicated:

Shortages are most critical in clothing for children under 15 years of age; underwear, elastic and panty waists are in great need.

Yard goods have depreciated in quality — "Women are willing to sew but can find no outing flannels. Yard goods are so poor that they aren't worth the time to make up."

In the wintry northern tier of states, boys' overalls, long underwear, stockings and heavy coats are needed.

Some women said that materials now stand few launderings and sizing is "less dependable" than normally.

The survey was prompted by an appeal from 75 women of the Minneapolis and St. Paul area, who wrote to OPA and other federal agencies, urging remedial action. They added:

"We recognize that there are many inconveniences we must endure due to war needs. However, when such inconsistencies exist as a profusion of luxury items such as $30 blouses alongside a dearth of essential items, something should be done."

Production News!

Aluminum Now 'Surplus'; Steel Meets Demand

REFLECTING the shifting production picture which changes as battle needs change, the war production board announced this week that it has closed four aluminum production lines in two government-owned plants in a move to reduce the monthly output.

On another production front, the trade magazine "Steel" said the industry has met "substantially in all details" a goal which at first seemed virtually out of reach and faces 1944 confident of its power to meet future goals.

WPB emphasized that these production shifts do not mean a general letting-down of war work and that other expanding phases of production "must" absorb the men and materials released by the surplus lines.

Driver Who Sells Car Must Give Up Gas Book

Automobile owners wishing to sell their cars first must obtain a certificate from the ration board showing that they have surrendered their gasoline rationing coupons, John W. Coleman, clerk of the Columbiana county court at Lisbon, announced today.

Titles to automobiles cannot be issued until such a certificate is filed with the application. Numerous requests for titles were rejected Monday because the applicants had not obtained statements from the ration board showing the gasoline rationing coupons were surrendered.

A 'That's Too Bad' Note From OPA At Washington

OPA at Washington has revealed that the efficiency of the organization is being impaired seriously by an increasing shortage of manpower.

The agency is overworked and understaffed and officials say the condition will grow worse. This means that a lot of things OPA should do will be left undone and those done will take a longer time in the doing.

The war food administration has released one and a half million more pounds of canned apples from government stocks for civilians. WFA also plans soon to release about 20 million pounds of canned pork and beans to the home front from supplies previously allocated to war requirements.

THE OPA is having more headaches.

According to the Research Institute of America, three big questions, evolved out of OPA's effort to set up sensible program for rationing and price control, are now plaguing that agency.

Here's a summary of what's afoot at present in the national office:

FOOD CEILINGS—Top food officials are preparing a memo for Economic Stabilizer Fred Vinson and OPA Chief Chester Bowles dealing with a permanent price policy for OPA.

These men are trying to be fair and to consider the industry's overall profit picture in establishing some sort of blanket ceilings for food commodities.

What Comprises An Industry?

The difficulty comes in determining exactly what comprises an industry.

For example, if a tea company owns a soup company which makes dehydrated soups, OPA couldn't establish soup ceilings on the basis of tea costs, although the company's volume buying might affect the soup costs, too.

Second, OPA has to figure out some method to keep producers producing — and not quitting because the profit margin has to be reduced in the interest of price control.

That is the big bugaboo—OPA fears some producers might see that manufacture of the item means a loss and just stop producing it.

OPA doesn't want to risk the loss of several food commodities from the market, but even if direct costs might be recovered by the producer, the net profit might be so small as to still make production unattractive.

Mustn't Change Every Week

RECALCULATION — There's been a storm raised over Mr. Bowles' recent statement that recalculation of ceiling prices by distributors would not be permitted.

What he really meant, according to RIA, is that week-to-week recalculation won't be permitted.

Top food officials say periodical recalculation on a monthly or quarterly basis will have to be allowed to distributors caught between fluctuating wholesale prices and the "freeze" technique slammed on many goods to the consumer.

All in all, OPA is yelling for the aspirin and Chief Bowles says he is serious about people having any good ideas on the subject writing to their regional OPA offices. East Liverpool's regional branch is at Cleveland.

'Japs Haven't Yielded Anything'

The marine commander who led the attack on Tarawa asserted Monday the Japanese in the Pacific "have at this moment in their possession everything they started the war for."

Brig. Gen. Edson, back from the Pacific battlefronts for conferences, detailed to reporters the difficulties in the capture of Tarawa and declared that heavily-fortified enemy base was "typical of what you've got to go through" as the advance toward the Japanese homeland progresses.

Edson also referred to Japan's pre-Pearl Harbor holdings, saying, "We haven't taken a single thing from them that they had before the start of this war." (The Gilbert islands, in which Tarawa is located, like the Solomons, New Guinea and New Britain, were taken by the Japanese as they surged southward in the early days of the war. The nearest pre-Pearl Harbor Japanese base is in the Marshall group, 400 miles northwest of the Gilberts.)

Edson pleaded against any thought of a negotiated peace with Japan which he said would mean only a "30 years' armistice."

Furlough Travel Time Considered

Sen. Millikin (R) of Colorado was advised Monday that his recommendation that travel time be allowed enlisted men on furlough has been considered favorably by the war department.

Soldiers stationed at some distance from their homes, the senator said, are spending six days or more on trains and busses with the result the normal 15-day furlough shrinks to little more than half the allotted time.

He discussed the matter with Undersecretary of War Patterson and yesterday was advised by letter that the department had issued instructions to camp commanders that, where the military situation permits, the normal 15-day furlough may be extended by the amount of travel time involved.

Board Named In Race Row

President Roosevelt named a three-man committee Monday to investigate a dispute involving the fair employment practices committee, railway labor organizations and 16 southern carriers over the question of racial discrimination.

The members are: Judge Walter P. Stacy, Raleigh, N. C., chairman; Judge William H. Holly of the U. S. district court, Chicago, and Mayor Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland.

The railroads involved have declined to abide by an order of the FEPC for greater employment of Negroes and the agency referred the dispute to the President.

Steel Negotiations To Resume

PITTSBURGH — With collective bargaining contracts of some 200,000 employes of six U. S. Steel Corp. subsidiaries expiring at midnight Monday the CIO-United Steelworkers of America announced yesterday negotiations for a new contract will be resumed Thursday.

Philip Murray, steelworkers' president, last Friday instructed union members to continue at work during contract negotiations.

The U. S. Steel contract conferences recessed Friday. Negotiations with the remainder of approximately 500 "basic steel" companies whose contracts expire this month are continuing, the union said.

Expiration of the contracts of 214 companies Christmas eve precipitated work stoppages which spread to 170,000 employes in nine states. The men went back to work Dec. 28 after the war labor board had guaranteed retroactivity in wage increases.

The steelworkers are asking a 17-cent hourly wage increase, guaranteed yearly minimum income and other benefits, all subject to approval of the WLB and Stabilization Director Vinson.

The U. S. Steel contracts expiring last night included those of National Tube Co., with headquarters at Pittsburgh, and American Steel & Wire Co., Cleveland.

The new title transfer grants the President and his immediate family use of the home during their life times and provides that town, county and state taxes shall be paid by the Roosevelts.

The deed gives the government the entire frontage of the original 110 acres bought by the President's father, James Roosevelt, on the Albany Post rd. in 1867, but the President retains about 60 acres between the house and the Hudson river.

of the Roosevelt administration, promptly replied to the indictment by describing the charges as "silly" and stating, "They're linking my name with the others to nail my mouth shut."

"The silliest thing is the charge I tried to help set up a Nazi government here," she said at her home in Chicago. "That's what we've got here now and what I'm fighting—a one-man government that's run by edict.

MRS. E. P. NEITZ TO HEAD BOARD AT WELLSVILLE

Piatt Named Vice President; Mrs. Rahter Takes Oath As New Member

Mrs. E. P. Neitz was elected president of the Wellsville board of education at the 1944 reorganization meeting Monday night. She succeeds John Ralston, who served as temporary chairman for the meeting.

Charles Piatt was named vice president and R. E. Patton was reappointed to the post of clerk in which he has served six years. The board favored meeting on the third Tuesday of each month as it has done during the past year.

Two Receive Oath

At the outset of the meeting, Clerk Patton administered the oath of office to Mr. Ralston, reelected, and Mrs. Mary Rahter, new member, successful candidates in the November balloting. Miss Mabel Boyd, Mrs. Neitz and Mr. Piatt are the other board members.

Previous to the reorganization, the board cleaned up unfinished business for the year.

Clerk Patton read a communication from H. J. Kampmann, clerk of city council, asking if the board would permit the use of the Beacom Memorial gym as a recreation center if the city sponsored or promoted such a project to combat juvenile delinquency in the city.

The board discussed the letter and favored some sort of coordinated program with the city but members said they believe the whole matter should be taken into consideration before making definte plans. The board is looking forward to a summer program for the city's youth and hopes to have the help of the city with it.

Gym Not Available

Supt. Seward E. Daw said the school appreciates city council's interest in the young people but explained that the gym is in use all the time for sports and other activities of high school groups and a more extensive outdoor program than that of last year is being planned for this summer.

J. Frederick Russell, whose term as trustee of Carnegie Public library expired Dec. 31, was reappointed for a term of seven years.

DOWN goes the mercury
UP goes the demand for Natural Gas

Now's your chance to conserve Gas for war industries and help end the war!

Cold waves send the domestic demand for Natural Gas up to nearly double. To carry this extra load and still keep war plants operating calls for sacrifice here at home. But it's small sacrifice compared to what our boys are going through.

This winter please do your best to conserve your use of Gas. Check the column at the right and see how you can help. The Gas saved by you and your neighbors may easily be enough to fashion an extra gun or an important part for a tank or plane. In a real sense, we have it in our power to bring our loved ones home sooner, or to keep them at war extra weeks or months. You know your answer to that!

There need be no shortage of Gas anywhere ; ; ; if we all use Gas wisely! Will you help?

Our Government asks us to conserve fuel, manpower, transportation, critical materials

What you can do in your own home to save on Gas!

1. Discontinue the use of your kitchen range for heating.
2. Winter-condition your home through insulation, storm sash, weatherstripping and caulking. Check your heating plant, replace or clean filters, for top efficiency.
3. Don't waste Gas by washing dishes or hands in hot running water. Insulate your water heater.
4. Avoid excessive room temperatures by proper setting of the thermostat. Close off rooms you do not use; close bedroom doors at night if windows are open; see that fireplace dampers are closed.
5. Learn to cook with low flame in small amounts of water to save Gas—save Vitamins, too.

New Non-Highway Gas Form Received

A new non-highway gasoline application form, aimed primarily at rural non-highway users, has been received by the East Liverpool ration board and will be distributed immediately.

The new form, R-537 revised, requires a more detailed explanation of the use to which the gas is being put, including the number of hours the farm machinery is run per day and how many acres are being worked with the machinery.

Other commercial non-highway users also must fill out the new forms but need add little new information not requested on the old forms.

Rayon Hosiery Ceilings Revised In New OPA Move

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — The branded or trade name lines of women's full-fashioned rayon hosiery were given a separate set of ceiling prices Monday, boosting the prescribed price of the most generally sold type 4 cents a pair and lowering it varying amounts for fancy mesh construction and irregular stocks.

Full-fashioned hosiery is hosiery tailored to fit the ankles and calves.

Manufacturers and wholesalers are to begin charging the new prices Jan. 15, but retailers were given until April 16 to dispose of, at current prices, the rayon hosiery they now have in stock.

Children's Clothing Shortage Protested

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 — The needle and thread brigade let out a holler today that: There's not enough clothing around to keep the children warm and what there is, isn't good enough to make sewing repairs worth while.

The protest was voiced through the American Home Economics association by housewives interviewed by the association in 25 states. The survey indicated:

Shortages are most critical in clothing for children under 15 years of age; underwear, elastic and panty waists are in great need.

Yard goods have depreciated in quality — "Women are willing to sew but can find no outing flannels. Yard goods are so poor that they aren't worth the time to make up."

In the wintry northern tier of states, boys' overalls, long underwear, stockings and heavy coats are needed.

Some women said that materials now stand few launderings and sizing is "less dependable" than normally.

The survey was prompted by an appeal from 75 women of the Minneapolis and St. Paul area, who wrote to OPA and other federal agencies, urging remedial action. They added:

"We recognize that there are many inconveniences we must endure due to war needs. However, when such inconsistencies exist as a profusion of luxury items such as $30 blouses alongside a dearth of essential items, something should be done."

of the Roosevelt administration, promptly replied to the indictment by describing the charges as "silly" and stating, "They're linking my name with the others to nail my mouth shut."

"The silliest thing is the charge I tried to help set up a Nazi government here," she said at her home in Chicago. "That's what we've got here now and what I'm fighting—a one-man government that's run by edict.

"My defense is that they are the conspirators. This is a key case. If I don't lick them, the country is licked and freedom of the press and of the country is gone."

MRS. E. P. NEITZ TO HEAD BOARD AT WELLSVILLE

Piatt Named Vice President; Mrs. Rahter Takes Oath As New Member

Mrs. E. P. Neitz was elected president of the Wellsville board of education at the 1944 reorganization meeting Monday night. She succeeds John Ralston, who served as temporary chairman for the meeting.

Charles Piatt was named vice president and R. E. Patton was reappointed to the post of clerk in which he has served six years. The board favored meeting on the third Tuesday of each month as it has done during the past year.

Two Receive Oath

At the outset of the meeting, Clerk Patton administered the oath of office to Mr. Ralston, reelected, and Mrs. Mary Rahter, new member, successful candidates in the November balloting. Miss Mabel Boyd, Mrs. Neitz and Mr. Piatt are the other board members.

Previous to the reorganization, the board cleaned up unfinished business for the year.

Clerk Patton read a communication from H. J. Kampmann, clerk of city council, asking if the board would permit the use of the Beacom Memorial gym as a recreation center if the city sponsored or promoted such a project to combat juvenile delinquency in the city.

The board discussed the letter and favored some sort of coordinated program with the city but members said they believe the whole matter should be taken into consideration before making definite plans. The board is looking forward to a summer program for the city's youth and hopes to have the help of the city with it.

Gym Not Available

Supt. Seward E. Daw said the school appreciates city council's interest in the young people but explained that the gym is in use all the time for sports and other activities of high school groups and a more extensive outdoor program than that of last year is being planned for this summer.

J. Frederick Russell, whose term as trustee of Carnegie Public library expired Dec. 31, was reappointed for a term of seven years.

DOWN
UP
goes the demand for Natural Gas

Now's your chance to conserve Gas for war industries and help end the war!
Cold waves send the domestic demand for Natural Gas up to nearly double. To carry this extra load and still keep war plants operating calls for sacrifice here at home. But it's small sacrifice compared to what our boys are going through.
This winter please do your best to conserve your use of Gas. Check the column at the right and see how you can help. The Gas saved by you and your neighbors may easily be enough to fashion an extra gun or an important part for a tank or plane. In a real sense, we have it in our power to bring our loved ones home sooner, or to keep them at war extra weeks or months. You know your answer to that!
There need be no shortage of Gas anywhere . . . if we all use Gas wisely! Will you help?
Our Government asks us to conserve fuel, manpower, transportation, critical materials
What you can do in your own home to save on Gas!
1. Discontinue the use of your kitchen range for heating.
2. Winter-condition your home through insulation, storm sash, weatherstripping and caulking. Check your heating plant, replace or clean filters, for top efficiency.
3. Don't waste Gas by washing dishes or hands in hot running water. Insulate your water heater.
4. Avoid excessive room temperatures by proper setting of the thermostat. Close off rooms you do not use; close bedroom doors at night if windows are open; see that fireplace dampers are closed.
5. Learn to cook with low flame in small amounts of water to save Gas—save Vitamins, too.
